Titan Cagers To Meet Clover Park Tonight

By Walt Snover

Coach Don Moseid and his Titan hoopsters will invade the floor of the Clover Park Community College gym tonight to face the Pirates for the first time this season.

Heading the list of possible starters for the Tacoma quintet will be guards Tom Patnode, Ron Harrell and Don Martonick, while Greg Frietag is listed to start at the center spot.

boasts a 19.5 average in two games.

According to Moseid, four "possible starters" will be out of action until Dec. 19 due to scholastic requirements. Forward varsity returnees Don Lehman and Bill Bailey will be ineligible for the first two games as will be guards Willie Hall and Travis Thorne.

Fox Resigns AC Secretary Post

Kathy Williams has been selected Activities Council Secretary replacing Kathy Fox after a surprise resignation handed to Tim O'Grady, AC Chairman, before the last AC meeting of the quarter.

The reason given for her resignation was that she is so busy with other activities on campus that she couldn't devote the time to her job as AC Secretary.

"Kathy Williams," said Tim O'Grady, Student Body Vice-President, "is a real hard worker and I think she'll do a real good job."

At the forward positions Moses Bobo, Marty Martin and returning letterman Tony Dillingham have the edge over their teammates. Mike Baldwin, a 6'3" forward and Gene Blosser will also see plenty of action in the contest, according to Moseid.

At press time, Clover Park has yet to win a contest in two outings, losing to Everett by a 115-72 margin and the Seattle University freshman 126-71.

Top scorers for the Pirates include forward Bill Bayer, who sports a 24.5 average, and scrappy guard Paul Campbell, who

GASTCC Hands Down Ultimatum

by Marshall Vigus

In a five to two vote with two abstentions at Thursday's student government meeting, Sophomore Class President John Conrad and Sophomore Class Representative Gary McDuff were given until it is felt by the Government of the Associated Students of Tacoma Community College that both have improved in their positions.

"I feel that duties haven't been performed," stated O'Grady during debate. "And if the duties, not only of John and Gary, are not performed, then they don't belong."

President Conrad pointed out that the reason he was not performing as well as he possibly could was that besides being a full-time student and sophomore class president he was working a full-time, eight-hour-a-day job. John also pointed out that he will be quitting his job so he can devote more time to school and student government.

It was asked during debate if McDuff should be present to defend himself. The observation was made that it is obvious that McDuff isn't doing his job because he was not present at the meeting.

It is felt by GASTCC that Conrad will be more active since he will be quitting his job.

Conrad made the statement that he will only do his job: representing the sophomore class, and will not do any of the "petty" things that other officers ask of him.

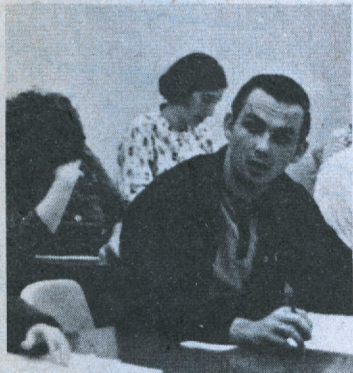

Winthrop's Ballroom Will Be Site of Formal

The new location for the Christmas Ball will be the Crystal Ballroom of the Winthrop Hotel. The sophomore committee chairmen decided on the new location instead of the Red Room of the Sherwood Inn, as previously announced, because it will accommodate a greater number of people and allow the class to cater its own refreshments. The ball is from 9:30 to 12:30 on Dec. 23. Art Doll will provide the music.

The theme for the ball, Midnight Noel, will be carried out in colors of red and gold, featuring pine trees decorated in theme colors. Light refreshments of a special Christmas punch, cookies, nuts, and candies will be served from a candlelit table.

Jaime Grenier, general chairman, urges students to sign up as early as possible in Bldg. 15 during the week of Dec. 11. Tickets, which are free, will be given out at this time. Permits for pictures at the dance will also be sold, costing $2.50 per couple.

New Rulings Great

With the passage of the new rule of disciplinary action, a few observations are in order.

First of all, after one reads these regulations, he should stop and think. These are not specific rules in the sense that the administration is picking on someone. These are rules of common decency and behavior — rules that are needed here at Tacoma Community College.

After witnessing some of the most disgusting behavior on this campus, I can understand why these regulations were set forth.

However, I cannot see why the Government of the Associated Students of Tacoma Community College haven't acted before this. Something else I cannot understand is how the administration has refrained this long before taking such action. I do understand that it is an administration policy to stay as far away from student regulation as possible. I would like to congratulate them on this.

The administration should also be congratulated on handling down these rules. Yes, congratulated! Things were getting so bad on campus that something had to be done and finally someone had to do it. It unfortunate that the administration had to be the one to do it, but if student government has failed to do this for the past two and a half years, someone had to do it.

I would strongly suggest that the GASTCC formulate legislation stemming from the generalizations handed down by the administration. — Marshall Vigus.

Will the Administration have to continue doing GASTCC's job?

TACT Needs Tutors

By Loman West

Millions of dollars are being spent yearly in this country to wage the "wars" on poverty, ignorance and inequality. (Thousands of congressional man-hours and hundreds of thousands of working man-hours are being consumed to this same end. To date, we are informed that the results are negligible. Americans, more particularly the taxpayers, are not overly exhilarated with these results.

Were congressional appropriations, riots, media criticism and/or Stokely Carmichael effective weapons in these "wars" this country would be well advanced toward Utopian society. At this time, we are somewhat short of that goal.

In the midst of this darkness there is light. Last year members of the United Students Social Activities Committee (USSAC) at Pacific Lutheran University initiated their own small war on educational deficiency, one of the results of poverty and inequality. The program is known as Tacoma Area Child Tutoring (TACT) and starts in where wars are won, at the grass - roots.

TACT utilizes volunteer college students as tutors for educationally backward elementary school children in grades three through eight. Each tutor is responsible for one child, and only one child. This insures that the child will receive as much attention as he or she needs in the particular areas he is deficient in. This system also allows a degree of understanding, trust and communication not possible between students and teachers in today's crowded schools. The final half-hour of the two and one-half hour class periods is aimed particularly at developing these social-behavioral characteristics, since often it is a social or behavioral problem that hinders the child's initial learning experience.

TACT is a coordinated effort of USSAC and Hilltop House, a multi-service community organization supported by the office of Economic Opportunity. Programming and guidance are available to the student-tutors from Mr. Jerry Vaughn of Hilltop House, and Mr. Jim Baker and Dr. Dan Kelleher of the Olympic Psychological Research Center in Olympia.

Chris Anderson, student president of USSAC, has received a gratifying response from students at PLU and UPS. The program is open to any college student interested, and there is a need for tutors in every field. It would be indicative of something if TCC were the only area college unrepresented in a program of this level.

The only commitment aside from the time involved is that one stay with the program for the minimum period of one semester.

So . . . If one feels he can give not just a few hours a week but a little of himself to a child who may be a better human being as a result of his effort, contact Hilltop House about TACT. One may not get much of the millions being spent and may not get much public acclamation, but one can be guaranteed the personal satisfaction of knowing he is accomplishing more than most of the people who are.

For information, contact Mr. Jerry Vaughn of Hilltop House, BR 2-2138. Applications are available at THE COLLEGIATE CHALLENGE office, Building 18, Room 2.

NORTHWEST ROOM?

Letter to the Editor:

It is pleasing to see on occasion subtle humor on the point of institutional personnel. My heart goes out to the person or persons responsible for designating the room located on the southeast corner of the Library as the "Northwest Room." It is a thing of beauty.

My thanks,
(signed) James T. Plomasen

the turn-out was so small.

The second occurrence I'm sure everyone knows about. I'm speaking of the wording on the ballot pertaining to officers receiving a salary for their services. The wording was such that people who voted against the measure voted for it. This, to me, does not represent an effective or responsible student government. I question the maturity or place of responsibility of the person or persons who drew up such a deceiving ballot. If this is not the case, then perhaps I am giving them too much credit.

My last point concerns the publication in which this letter will appear. I am not referring to the newspaper but to its editor. Although I do not always agree with his editorials, I do believe he has

PARTING COMMENTS

Letter to the Editor:

This is my final quarter at TCC. I cannot find it within myself to depart without first relating to the many unsuspecting students some of the things I have seen. Many of these events would not be condoned or even conceived at an institution with an informed student body.

Two specific instances loom large in my mind, both occurring during periods of election. The first instance took place during the election for freshman officers. I approached the polling place with a friend and asked to vote. Being unable to match names to faces, I asked one of the attendants to assist me. He was very willing and helpful. He not only showed me who the people were but also who was a "clown" and who was worth voting for. I am sure none of the candidates knew of this, but after observing the same thing happen to a number of other voters, it struck me as being strange. That this was the type of person who was assigned the task of seeing that the elections were carried out in a fair and impartial manner. No wonder

EDITORIALS...

Congratulations To WSC and AC

It is a rare occasion that this editor has something favorable to say and it seems that the subject matter should be of some importance and interest to the students on campus when this occasion arises.

Since the beginning of this academic year Tacoma Community College has grown. It has grown not only in size and population, but in student activities. Many of these being such things as a growing interest in student government, sports and sports car rallies, club activities and especially dances.

From the beginning of the last year it has been observed that this campus has matured from one with nothing to do but cruise 6th Avenue to a campus that puts on a dance almost every Friday night and sometimes something during the week. This is making TCC one of the most active colleges in the state. TCC is leaving the Community College level and is rising to the level of many of the four year colleges not only in student activities but academically as well.

A few weeks ago this editor was witness to not only an excellent winter fashion and ski show but a dance that was attended by approximately a thousand people.

Congratulations are in order to Mike Freeman and the Winter Sports Club for the fashion show and to the Activities Council for helping to provide for the dances held on campus.—Marshall Vigus

Book Exchange Good

From the looks of the preparation that Kelly Halligan and other members of student government have made, the students of Tacoma Community College might not have to be taken by the book buyer again this year.

I would like to congratulate Kelly and the other members of her committee for the fine job.

To quote ASB President Phil Tate, the book buyer is "killing us." And he just ain't kiddin'.

It shouldn't be misunderstood that there is an attempt to get rid of the book buyer or to drive him broke. It is just an honest attempt by students to try and save some hard earned money.

We of the Challenge Staff whole-heartedly support the Student Book Exchange and it is certainly hoped that the entire student body does the same. It is a real chance to save some money.

If other colleges have found success with this idea there is no reason why this campus can't.

A big thanks is extended to Joseph Kosai, Admissions Director, and Bonnie Waggoner, Secretary to the Dean of Students for the great job that was done on registration.

The registrations procedure is a combination of registration procedures from a few Washington state colleges and a lot of hard work was put into this with research done by reviewing almost every state college registration procedure.

Registration has never been better and there isn't too much room for improvement.

It certainly would be nice if someone would return the TCC Beer Mug that was removed from the desk of faculty secretary Millie Rohrs in building 17. — Marshall Vigus

GASTCC Passes Speaker Policy

A policy for student invited speakers, which was introduced and passed in Activities Council, was passed by the Government of the Associated Students of Tacoma Community College.

The policy, which was passed during a record breaking meeting of four hours and one minute, allows a campus organization to invite virtually any speaker the club wishes as long as there is no statutory law that forbids it.

It is hoped by the students and the administration of Tacoma Community College that this policy will solve many problems which may arise in the future concerning visiting campus speakers. The policy was designed to provide for problems which have arisen on other college campuses concerning speakers—specifically, the administration forming a policy when there was one for the college concerning this matter.

The policy was presented as follows:

The students of Tacoma Community College subscribe to the proposition that an important aspect of the education of college students is the opportunity to listen to speakers representing a wide variety of opinions and beliefs on all important issues. Therefore,

Susett Coleman (pictured above shaking hands with President Ford) has been awarded a tuition scholarship for all three quarters at Tacoma Community College. Susett is a sophomore at TCC.

Student Awarded for Saving Life

Dan Ruffo

Dan Ruffo, Tacoma Community College freshman, was presented with a Red Cross certificate of merit last week for "resourceful action" which saved the life of a twelve year old girl last summer.

The certificate was awarded to Ruffo by Jack Watson, safety services director of the Tacoma-Pierce County Chapter of the American Red Cross, at a meeting of the TCC Board of Trustees.

Ruffo is credited with saving the life of Lynne Gressett at

Dedication is Set For February 15, 16

The Tacoma Community College campus, which has grown from 150 acres covered with scotch broom to a 19-building plant worth $5,000,000, will be dedicated Feb. 15 and 16. The TCC Board of Trustees has approved the dedication dates.

According to plans, the dedication ceremonies for the Fine Arts Building will be held during the evening of Feb. 15 with the formal installation of Dr. Thornton M. Ford as President and the dedication of the campus on Feb. 16. Tours of the campus have been planned for Feb. 17.

Dr. Ronald Magden, chairman of the Social Studies Division, is chairman of the campus dedication committee. TCC students Judy Bickford, ASB secretary-treasurer, and Cassandra Stegman, freshman representative, are serving on the committee.

American Lake. While she was wading "she stepped off into deep water and was struggling frantically. When Dan saw her, he ran a considerable distance along the shore, jumped into the water fully clothed except for shoes and swam to her. He recovered her body just under the surface in time to prevent the incident from developing into a terrible tragedy."

ADMINISTRATION STEPS IN

It was learned last week that the administration of Tacoma Community College has handed down specific limitations concerning student conduct.

This is the first time in the history of Tacoma Community College that the administration has formed specific rulings governing student action.

"Many felt," said Thornton M. Ford, President of TCC, "that the administration wasn't doing anything to protect the students. They thought we didn't care."

"This is not an edict," continued Dr. Ford. "I'd be happy to discuss this problem any time. We (the administration) felt along with many students," stated Dr.

Ford, "that action had to be taken. Problems began to get bigger and bigger."

"I don't feel it is the failing of student government for not setting up their own rules," said Dr. Ford in conclusion, "I don't feel that any one failed in any of their capacities."

The three specific regulations will be added to section three of Rules and Regulations of the 1967 student handbook.

The first regulation prohibits smoking in areas used for instructional purposes.

Secondly, gambling, willful destruction of public property and possession or use of intoxicants are prohibited on college property and will be dealt with in a manner prescribed by law.

The final regulation involves undisciplined behavior which interferes with instructional objectives and is not sanctioned on the campus.

Sideline Scene

By Walt Snover

"All hail the Titans!"

The 1967-68 season is underway and the Tacoma Community College basketball squad has taken to the maples.

It'll be a rough year for varsity coach Don Moseid, with a young squad boasting only five returning lettermen and a host of inspired hoopsters out to gain "fame and fortune" on the court.

This will mark only the second season that TCC has participated in the intercollegiate indoor sport. Last year's squad did not fare too well in their premiere year, posting a 3-22 won-lost record.

Look out this year! The Titan netters will win and win big! The school has had its year of building and it's time to show a few other community colleges that the school's grown up a little.

Moseid is one of the best in the business in the state. He knows how to build a team and keep it going. I must admit that I am somewhat prejudiced, having watched the young coach develop teams for three years at Tacoma's Mount Tahoma, but that makes no difference. He's good!

Believe me, this is no slam at ex-coach Jack Heinrich. Heinrich did a fine job of molding the initial Titan hoop squad last season, but he lacked the floor talent Moseid will enhance this season.

Don Lehman, Neal Georger, Greg Freitag, Don Martonick and Bill Bailey are all more than capable of hitting in the double figures for the Titans and they will.

The only thing left, and needed most of all, is school support. If you want a team to win, you've got to support them. Last year's crowds didn't really break any attendance records at the games, so here's hoping for a better turnout!

The team can win and will!

TIDBITS . . . Don't forget that the TCC basketball squad will play their first home game on the campus when they meet Clover Park Dec. 29. Bellevue Captures 76-56 Hoop Win

By Walt Snover

Bellevue Community College displayed a torried second half of scoring to defeat the Tacoma Titans, 76-56, in their initial outing of the season. The game, which was played at Newport High School, was marred by numerous infractions and turnovers on the part of both teams.

The Bellevue squad was led to their victory by the floor play of 6'4" sophomore Lee Edmonds who knotted a total of 31 points in the contest.

Titans Lead

Tacoma jumped out to an early lead with the help of guard Tom Patnode, taking a 7-0 advantage before the Helmsmen finally made it on the scoreboard with Jeff Hills lone free-throw. The Titans held their lead until 40 seconds remained in the first half as Edmonds knotted the score at 23-23 with a lay-in and finally sunk three charity tosses, resulting from a foul and technical, to give the home team a 26-23 half time nod.

During the first half of action the Titan hoopsters had trouble finding the range and connected for only nine of 39 shots from the floor.

The second half of play brought disaster for the visitors as the inspired Bellevue squad rallied to increase their lead against a still cold shooting Tacoma team.

Behind the shooting of Edmonds and Jim Richmond, the Helmsmen increased their margin against a noticeably tired Titan five.

Edmonds led all scorese with his 31 point output while teammate Richmond scored 14 and guard Bill Gordon tallied 11.

Leading the Tacoma scorers were Don Martonick with 15 and Patnode with 10.

The Titans will travel to Clover Park tonight for an 8 contest.

Wilson Teacher, Jim Savitz Serves as Asst. Hoop Coach

By Walt Snover

Behind the scenes for the Tacoma Community College basketball squad is assistant coach Jim Savitz. The bright young mentor is serving in his second year at that position following his appointment at the end of the 1966-67 season.

Unlike most TCC coaches, Savitz is not a member of the faculty, but a history teacher at Wilson High School of Tacoma. He also serves as assistant football coach for the Rams.

Savitz was born in Tekoa, Washington and competed in high school athletics at Tekoa High. Football and basketball were his major sports while in school.

Eastern Washington State College was his residence for four years while achieving his degree in education. He did not compete in intercollegiate athletics while in school.

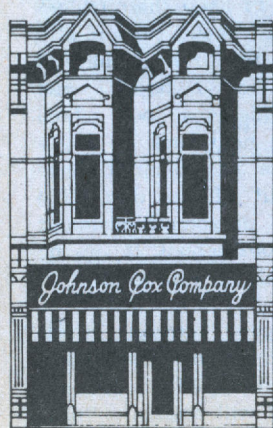

Included in his background have been the head football and basketball coaching jobs at Grand Coulee High for two years and four years as basketball coach at Aberdeen.

On the subject of community college basketball Savitz states, "The league is becoming better year by year and is one of its own. As more junior college teams are added, more emphasis will be added to the sport."

Tiger Captures Autocross Event

By Mike Stork

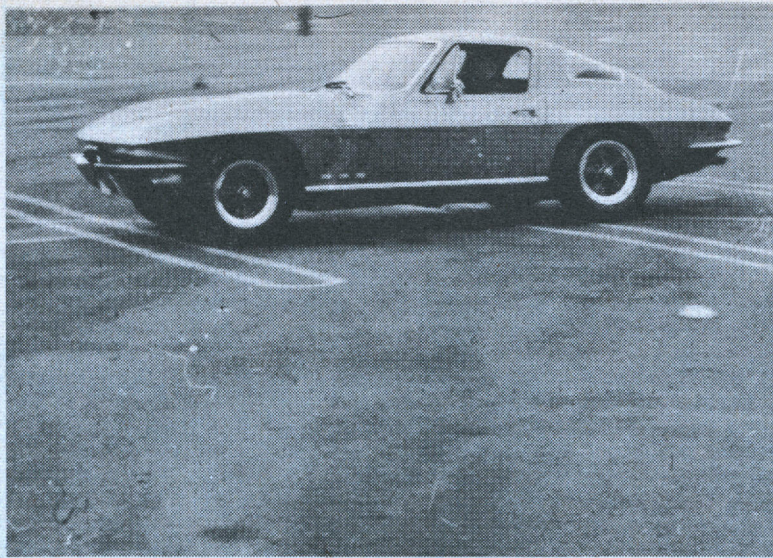

Marv Bilderbach, driving a 1965 Sunbeam Tiger, proved to be too much competition for the other drivers at the Sports Car Club Autocross Nov. 26 and walked away with the best time of the day. Marv, displaying great skill, threaded through the course in 44.8 seconds.

Miss Margrit von Bredow, Sports Car Club advisor, was quoted as saying after the event that every time the club holds an autocross they get bigger and more exciting. Forty-four cars competed in the Nov. 26 event, which drew a large crowd of spectators.

Cars started registration at 11 a.m. and the first car left the starting gate at 11:45 a.m. Most of the drivers spent their first run learning the course and going for broke on the second run. The only incident which marred an almost perfect day was the entree of a Corvette Club which, while afraid to run in the event, did their best to race through the pit areas.

CLASS WINNERS

- A. Marv Bilderbach, Sunbeam Tiger (44.8)
- B. Mike Davis, Triumph GT6 (52.0)
- C. Hoyt White, Austin Healy 3000 (49.5)
- D. Darrell McCluney, MGA (48.3)
- E. Darrell Bowen, Austin Healy Sprite (49.0)
- Small Sedan—Bil Thorson, VW 1300 (51.6)
- Medium Sedan—Steve Tweit, Volvo (58.0)
- Large Sedan—Jim Sundahl, Camaro (54.8)
- Small Powder Puff — Julie Byerley, MG Midget (55.0)
- Large Powder Puff—Margrit von Bredow, Barracuda (1.07)

Tacoma Intramural Grapplers Schedule Intercollegiate Play

By John O'Malley

An intramural wrestling team is being formed to compete in intercollegiate athletics, according to Athletic Director Loyd Percy.

According to Cliff Coomber, a sophomore at Tacoma Community College, and organizer for the team, a proposed varsity wrestling team couldn't be formed because of a lack of funds.

Money was needed to pay coaches and buy equipment, but the idea came into existence just this year, so the Government of Associated Students of Tacoma Community College couldn't appropriate any money. TCC's student government must know one year in advance of any activity that needs money so it can be placed in the budget, Coomber stated.

Jack Heinrick, Director of Intramurals at TCC and Percy, are helping him all they can to form the program.

Heinrick has formed a beginning wrestling class for winter quarter. Thirty-two people have entered the class and there are only three openings left. Coomber emphasized that it is not necessary to enter the class to wrestle on the squad.

Dezell Appointed New Golf Coach

By Mike Stork

Athletic Director Loyd Percy has announced the appointment of Mr. Robert Dezell, Tacoma Community College music instructor, as coach for this year's golf team.

Mr. Dezell has played golf for 35 years and was the Wilson High School golf coach for seven years. During this time, his team took the state championship one year, finished runner-up another and took third place once. They were Capitol League champions seven consecutive years. During his seven years, his teams lost only three matches, winning 81.

Mr. Dezell said that "TCC golf teams should be championship teams including this, our first year." He named several prospects for this year's team who have had tournament experience, including Dennis Tyson, Jamie Kirkebo, Chuck Morris and Walt Mathe-son.

All interested players are encouraged to try out for the team. Time and date will be announced later by Mr. Dezell.

Lehmen Adds Punch To TCC Hoop Five

By Walt Snover

Adding to the offensive punch of the Titan basketball squad this season will be returning letterman, Don Lehmen.

Lehmen was the top scorer for the Tacoma squad last year averaging 11.3 points per game. The husky six foot, three inch and 190 pound forward also holds the school record for most points in a single game with 28.

Much to the dismay of varsity coach Don Moseid, the star forward is ineligible for the first three games of the season due to scholastic requirements.

Born in Tacoma, Lehmen participated in baseball and track at Baker Junior High before attending Mount Tahoma. At the south-end high school he played varsity basketball his senior year and averaged 13 points per game while being named the "Most Improved Player" by his teammates. Lehmen was also a second team All-city choice in 1966.

Don Lehmen

Concerning this year's squad in comparison with last year's, Lehman said, "We're greatly improved and I really can't even compare us with last year's team."

Winter Sports Club Plans Skating Party

Winter Sports Club will hold an ice skating party on Jan. 12, from 10:30 to 12:30 p.m., at Lakewood Ice Arena. It will take place after the TCC game with Highline at Wilson High School. The admission will be free to TCC students and 50 cents to all others. Skate rental will be available at the ice arena for a cost of 40 cents. All TCC students must have their student identification card to be admitted free. Last year's skating parties proved to be fun even for those students who had never skated, so let's have a big turnout.

Students Open Book Exchange

By Renee Bayer

A student book exchange hopes to begin operation Dec. 11, and end during finals week, in the GASTCC office and Building 15.

The exchange will have two objectives in mind. One is the lowering of prices in the bookstore to reduce profits made from the students, and the other is to make the "bookbuyer" realize he must deal honestly with the students or lose their patronage.

According to the said policy of the buy-back procedure, a student should receive 50% of the book cost. Any book that will not be used the following quarter is only guaranteed a price of 50 cents.

If a student takes in a stack of used books, he may be quoted a price by the bookbuyer for the entire stack which may be a couple dollars below the set buy-back price. The bookbuyer then sells the books to the bookstore, who in turn marks them up at least 20% and sells them back to the students.

Last year, the bookstore, which is supposed to be a student service, made a profit of between $6000 and $8000.

The purpose of the exchange is to concur the owner and purchaser of used books without the use of a paid middleman.

The original owner will set the price and inform the exchange of the purchase of his book.

The purchaser will be responsible for getting in touch with the owner and checking the ownership of the book.

A card file system with the owner's name and phone number, book title, original price and set price written on a card will be the method of exchange.

Students will be notified when

"REJOICE AND SHARE YOURSELVES"

'Tis the time for rejoicing
all ye girls and boys,
Gather your families together spread your love and feather, all others with joy of spirit and prayers,
Shower many layers
of kindness and affection,
To those who may beckon
ever in need,
be in deed,

A giver of yourselves to all those whom God delves,
To be the recipients of your shared warmth during "Yuletide."

Food Service Comm. Discusses Cafe Plans

By Dennis Kaperick

The food services committee, which acts as an advisory board for TCC food services, met Dec. 5. The committee discussed plans for the new cafeteria and the presently operating snack bar.

The question of music in the facilities was brought up, and the group voted to make recommendations to the administrative board to appropriate a juke box for the snack bar area, and also for appropriate music of suitable tone and quality to be piped into the cafeteria, after it had opened.

At the Nov. 10 meeting, the committee voted to make a recommendation that when the new facility opens, a policy be established which would discourage (or prohibit) card playing in the cafeteria. This will hopefully restrict the cafeteria to only those students who wish to eat there.

The question of the sandwich machines was also discussed. It was pointed out that the machines were too costly in relation to the rental and the use, which the students made of them. The committee decided to put the question of the need for sandwich machines to the vote of the students in a random sample.

The meeting was then turned over to Domi Petrinovich, TCC food service manager, who discussed plans for the new cafeteria. He stated that he hoped to have the new facility opened by the beginning of winter quarter. It will be open from 7 until 10 p.m. The typical breakfast menu, which will be served until 11, will consist of bacon or ham and eggs, hot cakes and waffles. The average breakfast should cost no more than $1.00. A hot meal including an entre, potato, vegetable and roll will be served from 10:30 until 1:30 and from 5 until 7 and should cost approximately $.75. The snack bar areal will also remain in operation after the opening of the cafeteria, for snacks and conversation.

Students interested in performing may join by coming to any Thursday meeting, 12 noon, Room 7-3.

FIB After Santa Claus Syndicate

By Carl Zook

As Christmas approaches, the Federal Investigation Bureau (FIB) is working around the clock in an attempt to break what appears to be an international crime syndicate.

Believed to be the ringleader of the organization is a heavy-set, red-nosed, middle aged man, who is said to go by many aliases of which "Santa Claus" is the most prevalent.

Federal authorities say that this ringleader is definitely one of the hippie cult because substantial evidence supports the belief that he has never shaven nor worked in his entire life.

There is also evidence indicating that Claus is now hiding out to the north of the United States; however, he is thought to be planning another lawless trip to this country shortly, according to authorities.

Claus' plans seem to be centered around undermining all the authority in the United States. He seeks to gain the confidence of the nation's children by giving them gifts and acting quite jolly and easy-going, while in reality he is a dirty old man. By getting the children's respect and admiration, Claus turns the children against their parents and thus breaks authority within the United States at the most basic level.

Among Claus' federal offences are smuggling and treason. He has never paid any duty on the goods he has brought into the States. Claus is also known to have given aid and comfort to some of this nation's worst enemies.

Other crimes he is charged with are violation of the Interstate Commerce Act, entering and leaving the country without a visa and breaking and entering. Since he has never filed an income tax report, authorities suspect Claus of tax evasion too.

He is also guilty of driving an unlicensed vehicle, driving without a license, disregarding zoning restrictions on possession of animals, operating a business without a permit, failing to pay minimum wages to his employees, disturbing the peace and last, but certainly not least, breach of promise.

If Claus has no income with his fantastic output, it is quite probable that he gets his materials by theft and/or aid from a foreign power. Many good Americans feel that Claus could be part of a communist plot.

Claus' routine is really quite spectacular. He flies through the air in a sled pulled by a team of reindeer, landing on the rooftops of houses. He enters the houses by sliding down the chimneys. Mission completed, Claus returns to his sled and again takes to the air.

Due to the fact that Claus goes around muttering, "Ho, Ho, Ho," and then suddenly goes into hysterics crying out, "Merry Christmas to all," government agents are convinced he must take LSD.

The U. S. Public is being informed by the government agents to be on the lookout for the bearded syndicate boss. Sources say that he usually wears a bright mod outfit with a large black zelt, black boots, shiny over sized buttons and patches of fur trim. Although the name he seems to use most often is Santa Claus, some suspicious of anyone going by St. Nick or Kris Kringle, authorities warned.

"If you see a man dressed in the manner previously described, laughing in a deep voice and repeating, 'Ho, Ho, Ho,' first look for positive identification by seeing if his stomach shakes like a bowl full of jelly when he laughs. If his stomach does shake like a bowl full of jelly, it is Santa Claus and you should notify the proper authorities. If it isn't Claus, then make sure you don't get too close to the character!" Edgar J. Hoover, director of the FIB said.

THE UNKNOWN

The master huntsman stalked the mighty deer,
With cautious step, alert glance,
and experienced ear.
No wide-eyed look of madness did he wear.
Instead, his air of self-assurance penetrated everywhere.
The jackals 'round him crept,
all ready for the kill,
And, while a man he was, his was the Jackals will.
A movement he detected, and as birds around him flew . . .
He fired a shot! and no one ever knew,
That from the brush besides him there came a dying . . . MOO!

NOTE This is for all intents and purpose a purely anonymous poetical work, which I hope shall see fit to find it's way to the desk of the Editor of the COLLEGIATE CHALLENGE for it is contribution to its GOING CREATIVE column.

Claus Working For Left-Wing Pinkos

By Cliff Johnston

Since the Christmas holidays are drawing near, and the snow floats down from the sky, and all the little children of our wonderful, acitalistic, society laugh and sing in happy expectation of the holiday season, it is time we took note of some strange goings on in the Arctic region.

It is my opinion that the so-called benefactor, known by the obvious alias of Santa Claus, is not what his propaganda claim him to be. He is, in reality, a perverted, left-wing, socialistic-communist pinko, working as a free agent for the Russians. Oh, but you wink to one another and whisper, "How can he know this?" Well, all that is need for proof is a hard look at the facts.

First, it is known that this over-stuffed greed monger gives toys yearly to any and all who wish such gifts, even to children in the lowest classes of poverty. Such altruism is obviously a scheme to give the peasant class an idea of what they're missing, so they will rise up in revolution, (obviously a commie acquired tactic).

Secondly, the policy of this dirty old man is held in some question, as to the elves, which supposedly help make the toys. It might be noted that there is a complete absence of female elves (oh-ho!).

Also in question is the origin of this man who calls himself a saint, with obvious tendencies of self-glorification. Where was he born? Many say he immigrated to to the pole from the northern reaches of Simeria. Of course, as we all know, anybody who wears a beard and laughs when nothing funny is going on, has got to be a little bit peculiar.

The clincher is, has Santa ever been in any of the services? Does he even possess a draft card? We know he is over 18. What country is he patriotic to? In the force of such evidence, how can we not condemn this mass of laughing red blubber for what we know him to be.

White Anglo-Saxton citizens of America, arise! The time has come for us to bare our Claus.

Let's dance and sing and make good cheer
For Christmas comes once a year
(G. Mac Farren before 1580)

JOY TO THE WORLD

Christmas Comes.
The world is still
And America is Decked out in holly.
'Tis the season.
A million miles away
There is noise.
But not jingle bells.
A faint clash—
Could it
Possibly be Gunfire?
Try war.
Up on the housetops
Of that little country,
Not Santa Claus,
But bombs.
Merry Christmas to you—
This year,
Say it with Napalm.
And next year
too?
And the one after that—
On Dasher and Dancer!
Prance on
To that final
War.
Good-by world.
Happy New Year?

Krisp, Krinkely morning air.
Crowds bustling along frosted walkways,
Puffing great smoking plumes,
Rushing to last minute shopping,
Filling the vast emporiums,
Looking for the jurt-right item,
Buying what 'he' or 'she' must have,
Caught up in the annual contagion;
The fervor of the midwinter Mass,
December.

Month of misted windows
And finger-tingling cold.
Month of snow-gowned mountains,
Muffs and mittens, fleeced-warm'd clothes,
Month of evergreens and holly
Of mistletoe as well,
And plastic poinsettas
Production-lined to sell.
Ah, December.

Month of children,
Rotund little bundles toddling
Along endless, awe-inspiring aisles,
Wearing cold-rouged cherub faces,
Sapphire eyes,
And twinkling smiles.

Freshman Class Shows Apathy

By James Hendershot

The turnout of the freshman class is one that makes a person's heart warm. A person is proud of such a large and ambitious group of students that are willing to give their time and support to class functions.

The officers can not do everything themselves — and they shouldn't have to, but if the recent freshman class meeting is an example of things to come, then the officers might as well turn in their resignations.

The president, Aaron Bobo, was elected to preside over Freshman "Class" meetings and organize activities with the help of the class members and to represent the class at GASTCC. The representatives were elected to represent the will of the freshmen students at GASTCC and to assist the president in the carrying out of class functions.

At the recent meeting on Dec. 6 there were NINE (9) members of the freshman class present — this is not including the eight officers.

The meeting was called to discuss the plans for Christmas activities — which include the decorating of one of the school buildings around the outside of them that are facing the streets so that TCC could be represented in the city-wide competition for the best decorated building. This discussion turned into a farce because there were not enough people present to carry on a true discussion.

If the freshman "class" wants to be a class filled with apathy then nothing will be accomplished this year, but if that is not what you want, then get out and help the officers and let's get an active "freshmen class."

It was also announced at the meeting that on Jan. 19 the class would sponsor a dance featuring a battle of the bands between the Saints and the Soul Set. This is a chance for the Freshman Class of TCC to make themselves stand out as an effective club on this campus, but the success depends on the students. If you would like to help plan and organize this dance, then please contact one of the class officers and he will be glad to take your suggestions and help.

Any student having difficulty with a particular subject at TCC is eligible for tutoring, a service provided by members of Delta Pi Lambda. Students wishing this assistance should contact Phil Griffin, the club's advisor, in Bldg. 9. Tutors are available in most subject areas.

Artist's Works To Be Displayed

Donald Tracey, instructor in art at Tacoma Community College, is one of four Tacoma artists whose work will be displayed as part of the annual tour of homes, a benefit for the UPS-Tacoma Symphony, scheduled for Dec. 2.

Sculptured owls by Mr. Tracey will be shown at the Richard Moe home in Parkland. Only three or four artists are chosen for this honor each year.

AWS To Give Christmas Party

By Nils Olson

The Associated Women Students of Tacoma Community College are planning a Christmas party for the thirteen to sixteen year old children at Remann Hall on Thursday.

Co-chairmen Susett Coleman and Noweta Prout said that the party will start about 7 p.m. and last about two hours. Miss Coleman stated that Eric Miller and Gail Turlis will be singing folk songs as entertainment for the 25 or 30 children. A movie for the young teenagers may be shown.

Miss Coleman said that it is the object of AWS to provide the children with the individual attention that they might not otherwise receive during the Christmas Season.

TCC Offers Community Services

By Bonnie Taylor

"Community Services is just what it says — services to the community," stated H. J. Schafer, Director of Community Services at Tacoma Community College. "We provide the extra classes and services which are demanded by the community if, and sometimes it's a big if, we can find the time and space for them. Take for instance . . ."

The Behavioral Science Institute, a program designed for correctional officers and prison guards who come to the campus for training. This program was requested by the U. S. Department of Justice, Bureau of Prisons.

On the other side, Community Services provide classes at McNeil Island so inmates can earn college credit. A program has been worked out by which the inmates can qualify for an associate degree after the completion of three years (90 hours) work. This program comes under the night school program. Classes offered for the winter quarter are Psychology 205 to be taught by Ralph Sherfy and English 101 under the direction of William Ryan. This program began last spring and now has an enrollment of 60. It is hoped that a four-year college can be interested so that the men will be able to receive a full four-year college education while in prison. The McNeil Island Scholarship Fund has been established to help with finances and a federal grant is being applied for.

Community Services, in cooperation with St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing, is assisting in the education of student nurses. X-ray and Medical Records technicians from St. Joseph's also take science courses such as physics, biology, anatomy and physiology.

When asked what his job was specifically, Mr. Schafer replied, "My job is to see that everything runs smoothly; to see that everyone gets together in the right place at the right time and has a place to meet. And, of course, to take care of all the hiring and make sure that everyone gets paid. When someone or some group requests a course, it is my job to investigate to see if we can do it, how we can do it, when we can get started, where we will put the class, and if there will be enough general interest to warrant this particular course. I appoint a Citizens' Advisory Committee to check into all these things and report back to me. Sometimes it takes a while, but we honor all of the requests we possibly can."

Requests for courses come from many areas. For instance, a request has been received for a specialized course in Forest Products Technology. The Department of Public Assistance has asked for an in-service course for case workers; the legal secretaries have asked for a course in their field. Herman Walker, director of the Hilltop Multi-Service Center has requested two extension courses in the Central district — one on Afro-American History and one on Consumer Education and Protection. These will begin soon at the Center. The Tacoma Police Department requested and got an in-service training program for policemen at the station.

"As you can see," Mr. Schafer continued, "the problem is not in finding courses to offer, it is in finding some place to teach them. We have had to turn down some requests because all of the lecture halls were filled for the time requested."

Tacoma Community College operates four days a week from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. with daytime classes only on the fifth day. Outside groups also have access to TCC facilities. Tacoma Youth Symphony practices on Saturday morning and The Clef Dwellers, a local vocal group, practice each Tuesday evening. The pharmacists held a four-week seminar; the Bar Association will hold a ten-week one this fall. Later this month a data processing seminar will begin.

In addition to the night school courses for which credit is given, several non-credit courses will be offered beginning in January. These will run for ten weeks at a cost of $10. A course on Vietnam will begin on Jan. 8 in Building 15 taught by Ronald Libby. Jack Hyde will teach a course on the geology of Washington, Robert Rhule will conduct a seminar on Ernest Hemingway and Luther Jansen will lead one on the philosophy of Hugh Hefner. A course in astronomy is also planned. These courses are also open to our regular students.

"It keeps me busy keeping everything on an operational basis," Mr. Schafer concluded, "but it certainly is a fascinating job."
