Vol. XIV, No. 7

BOARD HIGHLIGHTS

The final 1978-79 operating budget of $6,307,028., a tuition loan fund for needy students and the concept of a college arboretum were approved by the TCC Board of Trustees at their Oct. 26 meeting. Donald Gangnes, Dean of Business Services and Planning, explained that the 1978-79 budget involves primarily the same level of spending for general college operations as 1977-78.

As a result of other board action, students without financial resources to pay tuition fees during registration will be able to attend TCC this winter because of a new student loan fund. The fund, initiated by students, will set aside $1 of each students' service and activity fees. Under the plan, students will be loaned tuition fees with a one year repayment period at 6 percent interest. The student senate unanimously approved the plan at their Oct. 26 meeting prior to board approval.

Dr. Richard Batdorf, Dean of Student Services, explained that the approximately $10,000 fund will enable 100 more students to attend TCC classes during the next year. The loans will be available for winter term.

The concept of a college arboretum, designed to improve the appearance of campus and also develop instructional areas through self guided nature trails was approved by the board. The plan was developed over the past year by a committee working with a consulting architect. The project, not currently funded, will be undertaken in several phases when funds become available. Gangnes said that the first phase would develop major traffic paths on campus through additional tree planting, mostly deciduous, and by creating student activity areas. The later phases would include landscaping and additional planting throughout the campus, Gangnes said. The total concept would cost about $500,000.

In other business:

--The Board heard a presentation by ASTCC student body president Ted Fick regarding the new model of student government. Fick stated that the model, which encourages maximum student participation, has drawn interest from such schools as Harvard University, Ohio State and many community colleges.

--Nine scholarship winners were introduced to the board.

--The board heard a report from Jerry McCourt, TCC Federation of Teachers president on the progress of three faculty committees recently formed to study registration, curriculum, recruiting and retention. He stated that the committees will present findings to a faculty meeting this week.

--The board accepted the third draft of the college's proposed goals for further study.

--Carolyn Anderson, allied health division chairperson, presented a gift to Allie Cobb for her many years of service as a member of the Medical Records Technology advisory committee.

FOR YOUR CALENDAR

The Nov. 2 curriculum committee meeting has been postponed to Nov. 8 at 2:45 p.m. in the Binns Room.

LABOR DEPARTMENT PREDICTS BLUE COLLAR JOBS FOR COLLEGE GRADS

Millions of college graduates will take blue collar jobs in 1985, according to the new Labor Department's Occupational Handbook. The report shows the future job outlook as bright for doctors, plumbers, receptionists, air conditioning mechanics, computer programmers, geologists and Catholic priests.

Summarized in a front page article in the Oct. 10 Los Angeles Times, the report shows prospects as gloomy for teachers, telephone operators, lawyers, keypunch operators, meatcutters, department store buyers, Rabbis and Protestant ministers.

The government handbook covers predictions about the future job market in hundreds of areas and encourages students to shape their careers to fit changing job market demands.

Teachers at all levels will continue to be in "surplus supply" throughout the 1980's, according to the article. As school enrollments and the birthrate continue to decline, stiffer competition will be created for available teaching jobs.

Although an increasing number of white collar jobs will be available in the future, more than 10 million graduates with BA and BS degrees will find less than 8 million job openings traditionally filled by college graduates. Fewer people may attend college, the article said, if they find that the education will not secure them a good job. This will create less demand for college professors and presidents.

Like college graduates of the early 1970's, those of the 80's will have to work harder to find jobs. The four million college graduates seeking work between 1962 and 1969 had a high success rate. (73% found jobs in medicine, engineering, law, teaching and other professions. 17% worked in management and administrative positions, while 3% entered sales work. Only 7% took low paying clerical and service positions.) Between 1969 and 1976 eight million graduates found a job market unable to handle their increased numbers. About 25 percent spilled over into job areas not previously sought by college graduates--clerical, service, blue collar and farm occupations.

According to the article, students are already shifting their educational emphasis to fit the job market. Only 11% of the nation's college students were in teacher training programs in 1976 compared to 20% in 1970. Fewer students are studying History and English and more in engineering and accounting, the report stated.

FACULTY/ ADMINISTRATION EXCHANGE PROGRAM UNDERWAY

A unique exchange program designed specifically for community college personnel is now being administered by Northwestern Michigan College. The program is designed to provide an educational growth opportunity through temporary exchange with another community college colleague in the U.S.

A 1979-80 Community and Junior College Exchange handbook is currently being published. The cost of the book is $5 and cost to register for the program is $4. Faculty members interested in the 1979-80 program must return a data sheet to Northwestern Michigan College by Nov. 15.

A detailed brochure and registration form is available in the college information office, building 15.

NESTER WORKING AS MCNEIL PEER COUNSELOR

Joanne Nester is the first TCC student to serve as an academic adviser at McNeil Island.

Nester, a student in the TCC human service worker program, works about 10 hours each week at McNeil helping provide a continuing educational planning service for students after they receive faculty advising before the start of each quarter.

According to Nester there are currently 180 students at McNeil actively pursuing a TCC academic program. She said that most McNeil students are working toward their associate in arts degrees, many in sociology, and plan to continue education at the University of Puget Sound or Pacific Lutheran University. Both schools also offer McNeil programs.

For her year-long work, Nester will earn 15 credits toward her Associate in Technical Arts degree in the Human Service worker program.

POSTING POLICY BEING DRAFTED

The Office of Student Services and the Office of Administrative Services are now jointly drafting rules and regulations for display and posting of printed materials on campus.

Until the guidelines are officially adopted by the college, individuals or groups off-campus wishing to post materials should be referred to the Office of Administrative Services, building 1, ext. 5152. On-campus groups or individuals desiring to post materials should contact the Office of Student Services in building 15 or call ext. 5115.

UNITED WAY FUND DRIVE CONTINUES

Time still remains to contribute to the campus-wide United Way fund drive. As of Oct. 26 at 10 a.m., $1,514.68 had been contributed to the TCC goal of $3,400. Dr. Jack Hyde is this year's TCC fund drive director. Help TCC reach its goal by Nov. 1.

HEALTH SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATIONS DUE

Applications for winter and spring term Health Professions scholarships for Indian students must be submitted by Nov. 17.

Students must be able to produce a certificate of Indian Eligibility, evidence of admission to a nationally accredited Health Professions school, evidence of high school graduation (or GED completion) and high school and college transcripts.

Students may request an application kit from:

Human Resources Services
Indian Health Service
Federal Building, Room 476
1220 S.W. Third Ave.
Portland, Oregon 97204

More information may be obtained by calling Debbie Brueckner in Financial Aids at ext. 5080.

INTERNATIONAL STUDIES PROGRAM UNDERWAY

In cooperation with Skagit Valley, Green River, Seattle Central, Olympic and Fort Steilacoom Community Colleges, TCC will submit a consortium grant application to the U.S. Office of Education International Studies division in November. The $70,000 grant provides for faculty release time to revise curriculum in international relations. The program is being supervised by Dr. Ronald Magden, assistant Dean for Institutional Advancement Projects.

"LILIES OF THE FIELD" BEGINS
NOV. 10

Rehearsals are currently underway for the November TCC drama production of William E. Barrett's "Lilies of the Field."

Directed by Chuck Cline, TCC speech and drama instructor, the play will be performed Nov. 10, 11, 16, 17 and 18 in the college theater, building 3. According to Cline, the cast is composed of experienced actors and novices with a mixture of TCC students and other community members.

The play centers around Homer Smith, a Black soldier who travels to Arizona following his discharge from Fort Lewis. There he meets a group of nuns from East Germany who, with little else but their faith, plan to build a church and convent and create a garden. The nuns eventually coerce the ex-soldier into helping them.

The story, originally published as a novellette in 1962 and adapted as a film in 1963 has been described as "refreshing and haunting..." and "a pleasantly unsentimental tale of innocence and faith." Sidney Poitier won the Academy award for best actor in 1963 for his role as Homer Smith.

The role of Homer is played by Craig Collier, an experienced actor who performed in a Tacoma Opera Society production of "Madame Butterfly." Linda Lancaster brings over 10 years of public school theater teaching experience and an extensive drama and entertaining background to the role of Mother Maria Marthe.

Supporting roles include Scott Graf as Father Gomez, Richard Skattum as Jose Gonzalez, Bill Absher as Livingston and Micki Nadeau as Sister Albertine. Other cast members include: Beth Harnett as Sister Agnes, Mary Sterling as Sister Gertrud and Rita Sullivan as Sister Elizabeth. Children are played by Rhonda and Mark Edenholm and townspeople are Rick Skattum, Stacy Nelson, Davis Dalin and Betty Bechdol. TCC students include Graf, Nelson, Skattum, Bechdol, Sullivan, Harnett and Nadeau.

General admission is $1 or a pound of non-perishable food. The food will be distributed locally by FISH - a Tacoma-Pierce County food bank collection organization which involves about 100 area churches and 500 volunteer workers.

All students, children under 12 and senior citizens are admitted free. Reservations are recommended. For ticket information call 756-5070.

INVESTMENTS IS
FOR SENIORS

Investments designed to build capital and create extra income for senior citizens will highlight information in "Financial Freedom--Taking the First Step," one of nine courses planned for senior citizens at TCC from Oct. 31 through Nov. 16.

Taught by Christine Wheeler, account executive for Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, Inc., in Tacoma, the course will cover liquid investments in the stock market and government bonds which provide minimum risks for retired persons. Also included will be a brief discussion of real estate and insurance investments. The class meets from 3-4:20 p.m. in building 18, room 1.

The TCC courses meet Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons for a cost of $2 each and are designed especially for individuals 55-years of age or older.

U OF W PHARMACY
REPRESENTATIVE
ON CAMPUS NOV. 3

Dr. Ed Krupski and Mrs. Lillie Jones, representatives from the University of Washington School of Pharmacy, will be in the Career Information Office, building 7, room 13 on Friday, Nov. 3 from 1-2:30 p.m. They will provide information and answer questions from students interested in transferring to the university as pharmacy majors.

NATIONAL STUDENT
UNDERWAY

The National Student Educational Fund is sponsoring, for the second year, the Better Information Project: Prizes in Education (BIPPIE), a national competition to encourage and recognize original student produced informational materials.

$500 awards will be given to each of the 12 best entries. Winners will then give their award money to the student organization or project of their choice.

Individual students and student organizations are eligible to enter the competition. All materials may be in any media and must be aimed at improving the information available to students concerning campus programs, opportunities and experiences, such as orientation handbooks or guides for women reentering college. Materials must have been produced during the 1977-78 or 1978-79 academic years.

Each of the 12 winners will win a trip to Washington, D.C. at which time the prize money will be awarded at a national Information Celebration.

Application packets are available from the National Student Educational Fund, 2000 P Street, NW, Suite 305, Washington, D.C. 20036.

The competition is sponsored by the National Student Educational Fund, a national non-profit group engaged in research, information services and training activities from a student perspective.

ART EXHIBIT
FEATURES TCC
FACULTY WORK

An art exhibit featuring work of the TCC art faculty will open Nov. 17 and continue through Dec. 1 in the TCC library. The exhibit will emphasize the scope and versatility of the college's art program which includes college transfer, continuing education and community service courses.

Twenty-seven artists will participate by exhibiting two items which display their talents in different media. Media used will include painting, printmaking, pottery, sculpture, enameling, stained glass, photography and calligraphy.

Instructors in the college transfer program exhibiting work include F. Carlton Ball, Paul Clee, Frank Dippolito, Heidy Herschbach, Betty Jones, Paul Michaels, Jan Nelson, Richard Rhea, Marlo Sass, and Donald E. Tracey.

Continuing education faculty exhibitors are Don Church, Wayne Clarke, Jennie Howard, Fumiko Kimura, Peggy Mayes, William Phillips, Flora Mae Raught, Ken Stevens, Miles Struxness, Kathy Switzer, and Amanda Wells.

Community services faculty members involved in the exhibit include Kal Evenson, Mattie Kling, Karin Morris, N.C. Griffith, Gene Rivers, and Janet Worthington.

The exhibit is free to the public during normal library hours, 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturdays. The library is closed on Sunday and holidays. For information call ext. 5039.

CHEF'S CORNER

Food Facts of the Week: Vi reminds all TCC readers that as Halloween approaches, you should know that all parts of the pumpkin are useful except for the membrane surrounding the seeds. Pumpkin seeds present many possibilities including roasting, baking, mashing and frying. The TCC cafeteria will have a big Halloween surprise for everyone on Oct. 31. Drop by and join the fun.

About 6,000 tires, bound in bundles of 30 each are being dumped into the water off the Illahee community pier in Bremerton to form an artificial reef and create a huge playground for hundreds of fish. Vi reports that this is good news for fish lovers.

According to a recent CBS news broadcast, coffee prices will soon increase. Vi stated that if this occurs, the TCC cafeteria will make the necessary price adjustments after the increase is felt here.

The TCC cafeteria now has a popcorn popper and will soon provide fresh popcorn to customers at 20 cents for an 18 ounce cup. Large buckets will be sold for 75 cents each. The machine will be operational as soon as the proper hook ups are made.
