Wright Resigns

ASTCC President Sought

Former President Dick Wright

WANTED: Student body president of TCC.

The office of president of Associated Students of Tacoma Community College (ASTCC) is open due to the resignation of Richard C. Wright, former Program Board Chairman, who was elected to that post last May.

In his resignation, Wright cited "personal financial reasons" as the chief cause of his action. Wright was reportedly logging near Aberdeen and unavailable for comment.

Applications for the presidential vacancy will be accepted by the ASTCC Senate Committee for a period of one week, until 4:30 p.m., Friday, October 14 in student government Building 15. (Phone: 5120 or 5123).

The Student Senate Selection Committee set these qualifications. The president must:

—Be a fulltime student (10 credits or more) with a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or better.

—Have experience with or have the capacity to learn to deal with the budgeting process.

—Be capable of being an ambassador for the student body and be a liaison to the administration.

—Be willing to devote the time necessary to complete his duties and to complete the term of office. (Until June 15).

—Be the official representative of the ASTCC.

All applicants must also appear for a personal interview on Monday afternoon, October 17 before the selection committee.

The office of ASTCC president is a paid position funded for the year through college work-study or student help funds.

ASTCC Jobs Open

Student Government has many paying jobs available this quarter. The Associated Students of Tacoma Community College (ASTCC) needs the following:

- ASTCC President
- ASTCC Artist
- Vice President of Programs and Publicity
- Day time lounge managers (4 positions)
- Night time receptionist and lounge manager
- ASTCC Secretary
- Administrative Assistant

Interested students should contact Patti Duncan at Student Activities, Bldg. 15, phone 5115.

Numbers Make Campus Explorations Easier

Has it been a little easier this fall to locate the building your next class is in?

The huge new numbers that have been placed on each building are part of an overall signing project, designed to make it easier to find your way around the campus.

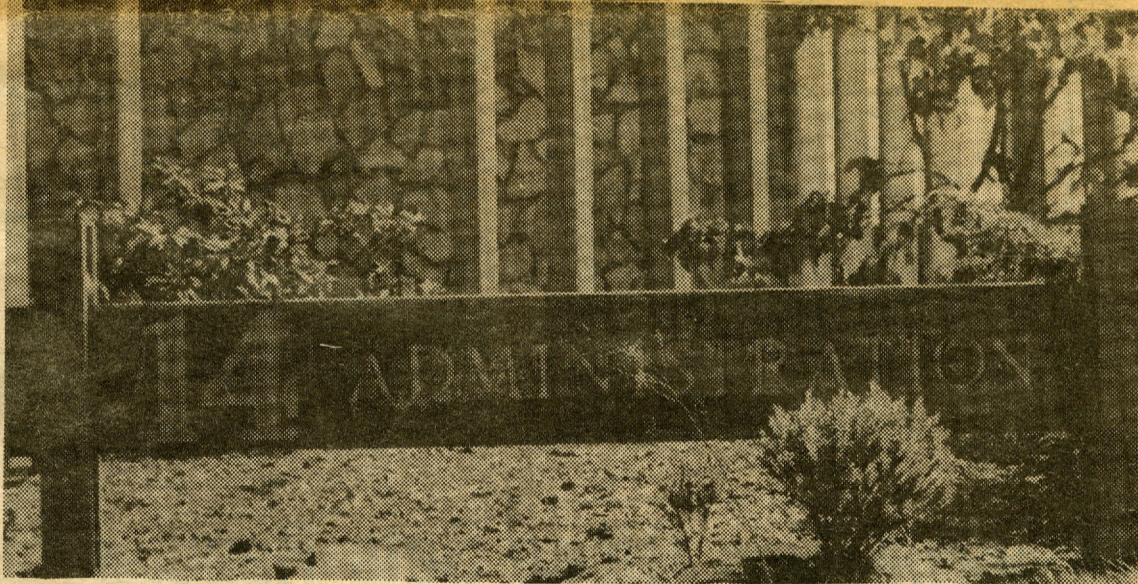

The numbers, 18 inches tall, from pre-treated plywood, have been painted a light earthtone color in keeping with the architectural theme of the stone-faced buildings. They are easily visible against the dark mansard roofline.

Oct. 7, 1977
Gerald Gangnes, Dean of Business Services and Planning, says that numbers will not be placed on buildings around the outside periphery of the campus. The numbers are for student use. Visitors will be directed to buildings by new directories in parking lots.

The project also includes two large reader boards, one to be erected at the 12th Street entrance to the campus and the other at 19th and Mildred. Traffic directional signs will also aid students while driving on campus.

This project was designed by Allen and Collins, at a cost between $20,000 and $25,000.

Part of TCC's new look this fall, new signs (below) have been designed for easier identification than former building signs (above.)

editorial

A complaint heard all too often about student government is that it is not responsive to the needs of the students which it serves. Quite often this complaint is justified. But rather than sit back and gripe now is the time to do something about it. The Senate is now faced with decisions which are too important to let them decide on their own.

First off there is the selection of a new president. Little can be done until this position is filled and who is selected will determine to a great extent what gets done.

Next is the budget. This is our money and why should we sit back and let someone else spend it?

Finally there is the question of reorganizing student government. Every year there is talk of reorganization with the idea of becoming more responsive and every year nothing is done.

Now is the time to let the Senate know what we want and that we're tired of inaction.

In all fairness to the new Senate it should be noted that they have inherited problems for which they can not be held responsible. Unfortunately we can no longer afford the luxury of wait and see. All too often we elect officials and then sit back and let them handle our affairs, only to complain that they didn't do what we expected. Only by becoming active ourselves can student government become a responsive and effective body in student affairs.

Your response is welcome.

Tuition Increases

House Bill 312 Empties Wallets

That "empty feeling" in your wallet this fall may be due to TCC's tuition increase due to passage of House Bill 312 last year.

This bill increased the tuition and operating fees of all community colleges in Washington. Tuition now costs students $9.45 per credit, an increase of $1.12 from last year's tuition of $8.33.

Richard Batdorf, Dean of Student Services, said "The Board of Trustees has no authority to increase or decrease the tuition and operating (capital) fees. The only fee they have an option to increase is the services and activities fees and that hasn't increased since '71.

"I would like to say," Batdorf went on, "that in order to survive in today's society there is an increasing need to continue one's education. The legislature should adopt a program similar to California's community colleges where there is no tuition fee. I don't think people should be taxed through tuition since education is such a necessity now."

How do students view the tuition increase? The 25-30 students interviewed were resigned to the increase since there is still no comparison to the tuition charged by local universities. Mary Smith said, "What's ten bucks when you're actually saving thousands by studying here instead of UPS?"

It is possible that there may be yet another tuition increase if the Board of Trustees decides later on to increase the student services and activities fee.

Financial Aids Office Sets Regular Hours; 10-4:30 p.m.

With fall registration completed, the Financial Aids office has gone back to regular hours (10 to 4:30) and it's business as usual: helping students who need money.

Pat Mullen, assistant director, says she doesn't really think most students know what Financial Aid is.

"A large part of it has to do with the students' high school counselors' lack of informing them about financial aid programs available. Many students come into the office declaring that they didn't know they had to do this or they had to do that. It's all very frustrating."

A high percentage of students attending TCC are receiving financial aid and many are probably wondering whether their checks have arrived. Most have, but the ones who haven't need not worry, Mullen says. "There are two ways we can get around this. One, if a student brings his registration slip to our office we can give him immediate attention and have his aid ready within two days. Another is that if a student needs books before his check arrives he would receive from us a credit slip of $50 which would later be deducted when his check arrives."

Mullen also feels they need more communication with students who apply or are receiving financial aid. "Most of them are new here and one of the things we are attempting to do is help the students plan their financial aid for the years to come. They must realize that financial aid can be continued for the next three to 10 years providing they reapply each year," stated Mullen.

Clubs Accepting Members

Persons wishing to organize clubs should submit a request for club recognition for the 1977-78 school year to the Office of the Coordinator of Student Programs no later than Oct. 12. Forms are available at the Coordinator of Student Programs in Bldg. 15.

The Student Coalition of Indian Natives (SKIN) is still active this school year. Many constructive events and activities for the fall quarter are being planned by the present club officers, according to President Phil Abbott.

SKIN needs the support of all interested students in implementing these plans and ideas, he says.

Abbot, a Tlinget native from Alaska, invites all interested students to attend the next scheduled general meeting this Wednesday, Oct. 12 at 1:30 p.m. The meeting will be at the club and organization office in Bldg. 15. For further information contact Phil Abbott at Bldg. 15 or call 756-5118. Leave a message if he is not in and he will return your call.

Phi Theta Kappa exists to reorganize and to encourage scholarship among students in American junior colleges. It seeks to provide (1) opportunity for the development of leadership and service, (2) an intellectual climate for the exchange of ideas, (3) lively fellowship for scholars, and (4) stimulation of interest in continuing academic excellence.

To be eligible for membership in Chi Gamma Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, a student must:

1) Be regularly enrolled at Tacoma Community College and shall be carrying 12 or more hours in courses leading to a recognized degree in a fully accredited University, four-year college or from TCC. Ten of the 12 hours must be at TCC.

2) Have completed one quarter at TCC and must have 12 or more hours.

3) Meet the following grade evaluation:

a) 3.25 GPA if only one quarter has been completed at TCC.

b) 3.00 GPA if two or more quarters have been completed at TCC. (24 or more hours), as well as 3.00 GPA in the quarter previous to initiation (summer quarter excluded, unless 10 hours are completed).

4) Be enrolled at TCC at least one quarter after initiation, for membership to be completed.

5) Be of good moral character, possess recognized qualities of citizenship and have established academic excellence as judged by the faculty.

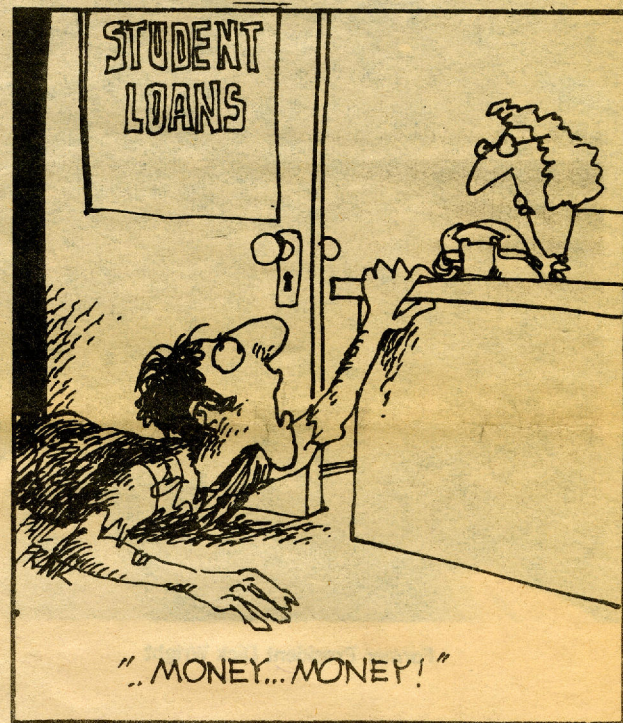

Meetings will be held bi-monthly upon recommendation of the executive committee.

Meetings are open to all students, whether members or not. Any student desiring to come and observe is welcome.

Chi Gamma Chapter wishes to extend to any student that meets the qualifications of membership, an invitation to join Phi Theta Kappa.

Further information about Phi Theta Kappa may be obtained by attending the special orientation meeting of prospective members, attending the regular meeting or contacting the Chapter President in Bldg. 15.

Initiation is held once each quarter.

Veterans' Corner

By Steve Hunt

Welcome back Vets!

To start the Fall '77 quarter off right, the VA reminds all vets to be sure to turn in those attendance cards on schedule (once every three weeks). The first card is due Oct. 17 and can be dropped off at the VA office in Bldg. 2A during the day or deposited in the drop box (located just outside their door) for all night students. Don't be late! Failure to turn in your card on schedule can result in cancellation or a delay in benefits.

Expanded work-study opportunities are now available for student veterans. Eligible full-time students may work up to 250 hours per term for the Veterans Administration, either on campus or in a nearby VA office or hospital.

This program allows the student veteran to both earn and be of service. It is also tailored to allow the student to fit his working hours around class schedules.

In addition, payment for the first 100 hours is authorized in advance. This is a timely aid now that the law no longer provides for prepayment of the regular monthly G.I. Bill allowance.

Service-connected disability and financial need are factors considered in selection for the program. However, more funds are available for the work-study program than at any time in the past and application is encouraged.

Further information is available, either at the campus veterans' office or the nearest VA

Regional Office.

Monetary benefits for student veterans extend beyond the basic monthly G.I. Bill allowance.

In addition to the basic allowance, eligible veterans can receive a student loan of up to \$1,500 per academic year. The loan carries a low interest rate of 7 per cent and repayment terms extend for 10 $\frac{3}{4}$ years after completion of studies under the G.I. Bill.

Student veterans are encouraged to apply for VA student loans. Funds are normally made available to approved applicants within three weeks. Financial need is, of course, a factor in determining eligibility. The campus veterans' office or the nearest VA Regional Office should be contacted for further details.

Get ready:

The TCC Veterans' Club will hold its organizational meeting next Thursday, Oct. 13 at 1:30 in the Library Conference Room, Building 7. All interested veterans are urged to attend.

Maybe we'll cure cancer without your help, but don't bet your life on it.

The way it stands today, one American out of four will someday have cancer. That means it will strike some member in two out of three American families.

To change those statistics we have to bring the promise of research to everyday reality. And to expand our detection program and techniques. And that takes money. Lots of money. Money we won't have—unless you help us.

The American Cancer Society will never give up the fight. Maybe we'll find the answers even without your help. But don't bet your life on it.

Student Government Open House Tuesday

Students interested in developing leadership skills by participating in student government or on a student programs committee will have two chances to find out how on Tuesday.

The Associated Students of TCC (ASTCC) will sponsor two open houses Oct. 11 in the Quiet Lounge, at 12:30 to 1 p.m. and again at 6:30 to 7 p.m.

Call for Book Swap Information

Students wishing to buy or sell books through the college Book Swap should call the office of the Coordinator of Student programs, Bldg. 15, for more information (756-5115).

Book Store Post Oct. Calendar

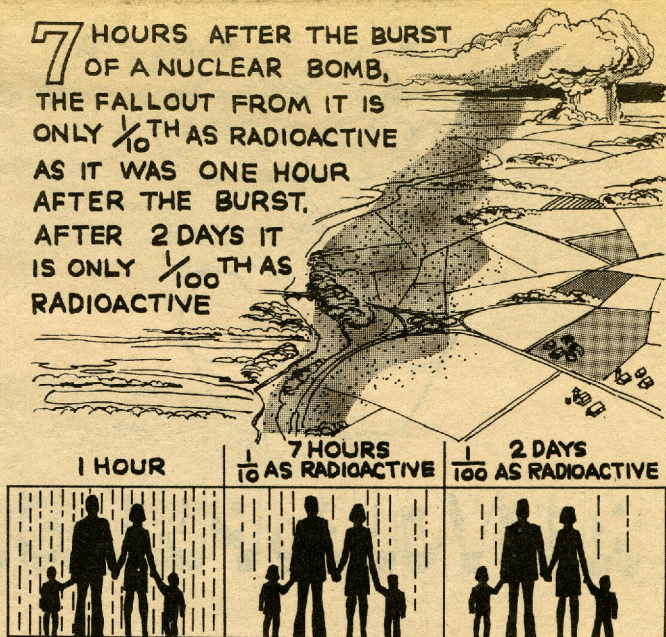

In an effort to meet the needs of the TCC student body, the bookstore has posted its calendar for the month of October on the door.

The hours are planned to fill both day and night needs, with the store open 7:45-4, Monday through Friday; and with late hours (6:30 to 8:30) Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

Remember: If you get slapped with a parking ticket at TCC, be sure you pay it within 24 hours.

PARKING FEES INCREASE

Parking fees have gone up this quarter, but parking will be a more colorful experience.

It now costs students $2 per quarter, $5 per year, to park on the Tacoma Community College Campus. There are no reserved parking spaces for students this year.

Faculty and staff permits are $3 per quarter, $8 annually.

Parking stalls will be color-coded, and all persons should park in an area with curbing the same color as their decal. Student decals are maroon, faculty and staff blue, and handicapped yellow.

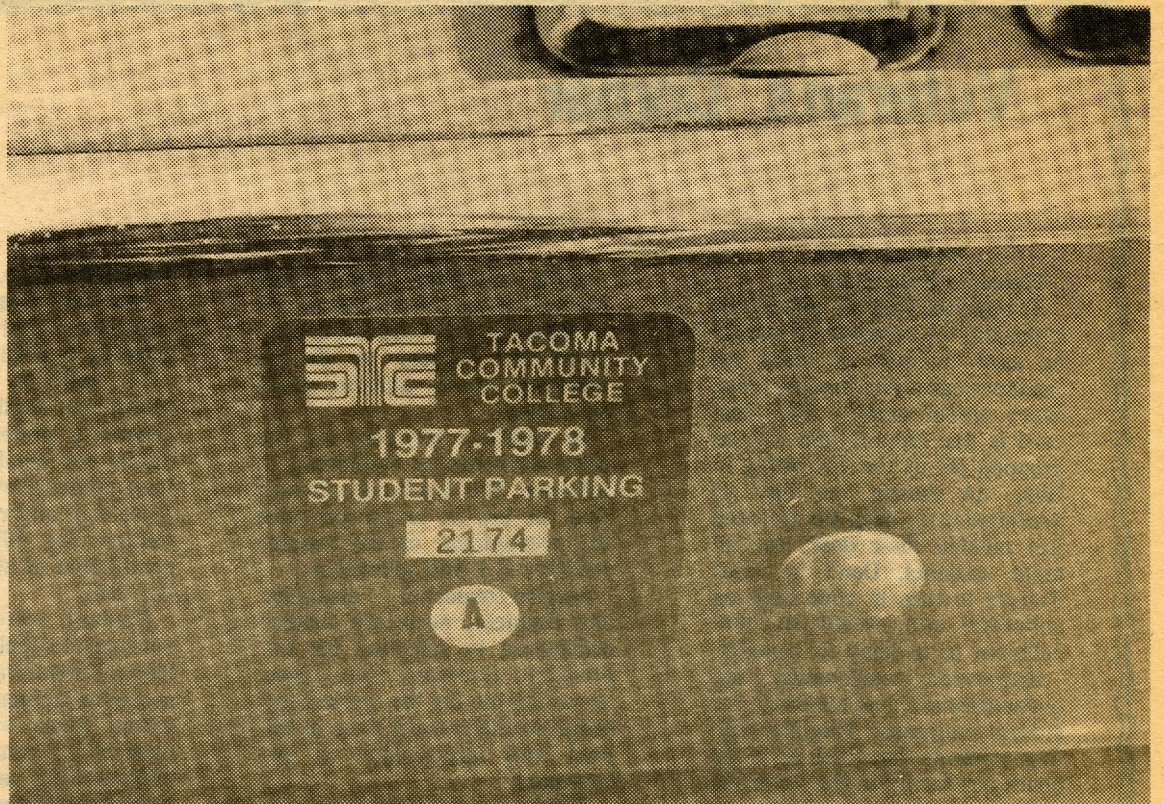

Fines for traffic violations are the same as last quarter. Students who receive notices of violations, whether moving (such as exceeding the 10 mph speed limit) or parking, should appear at the security office within 24 hours to pay the fine. In such cases fine will be only $1. (This excludes moving violations.) If not, fines will be as follows:

- A) Vehicle parked in manner as to obstruct traffic, $3.
- B) Occupying more than one space, $2.
- C) Parking in fire lane $3.
- D) No parking permit displayed $5.

(These fines will be levied if the car has no permit after Monday.)

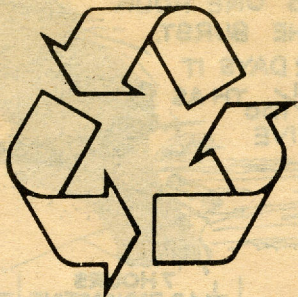

The money goes to such causes as covering costs in laboratory courses, upkeep of parking areas, installation of new parking areas, and building new exits and entrances on campus.

Parking stickers have a new look and a new location.

Drastic Steps Have Been Taken

Looking Better

There shouldn't be so many shivers and shakes and heat waves in classrooms this year, thanks to a revamping of the heat control system during the summer.

According to Spike Baldwin, building and grounds maintenance supervisor, upgrading the heat pump control was only one of many campus improvements made during the summer.

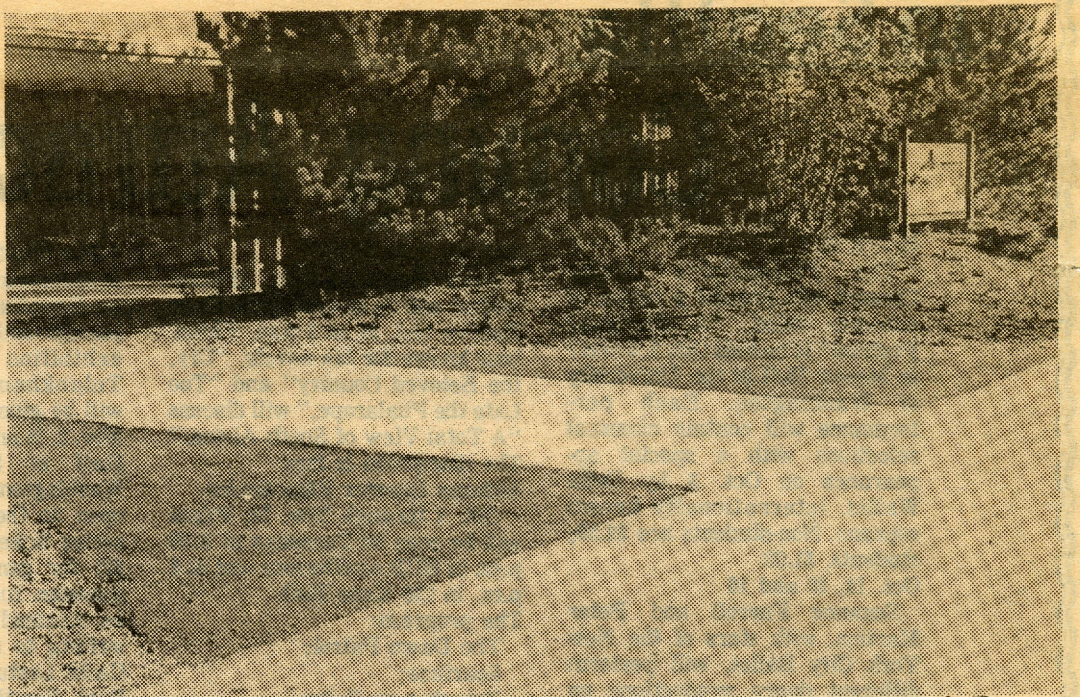

New shrubbery and ground cover was planted in front of the library.

Lawns were sanded, levelled and made ready for new seeding, which will be done later this fall. A new, dry, paved walk now extends northward from Bldg. 20 (old Bldg. 17), replacing the former swampy trail.

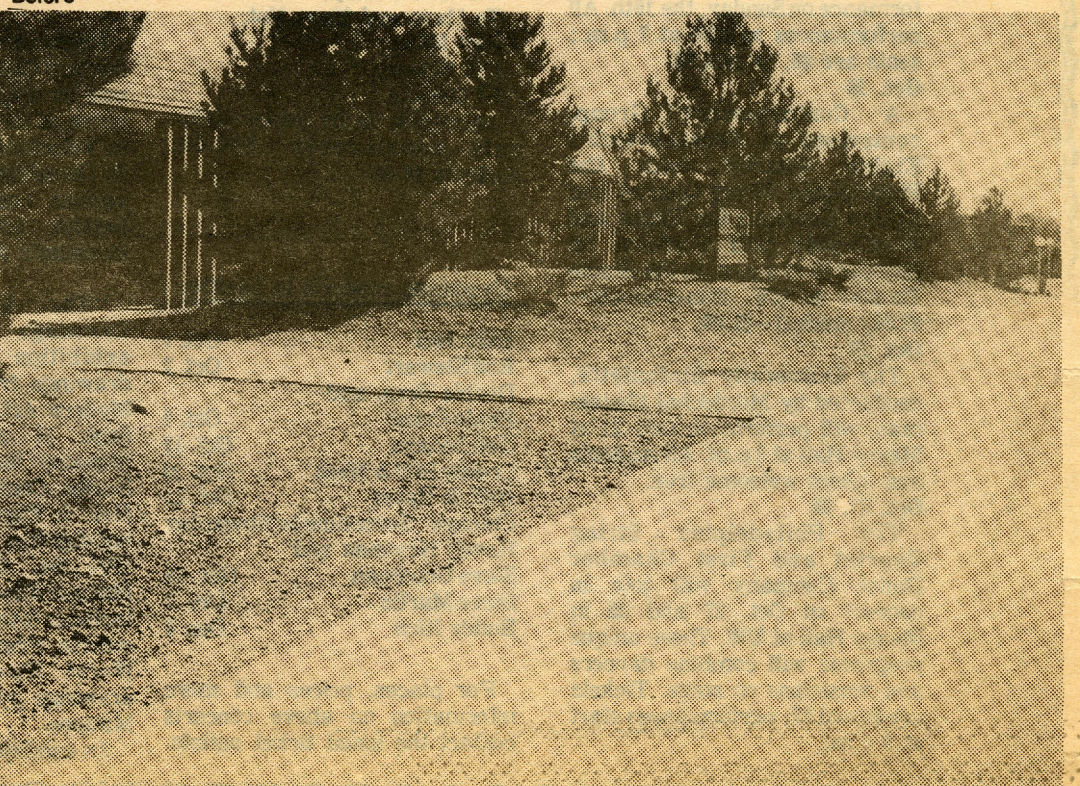

All floors and carpeting were cleaned. The gym floor was completely refinished.

The department installed lighting on the bridge and constructed a roof over the kiln off the Art Building.

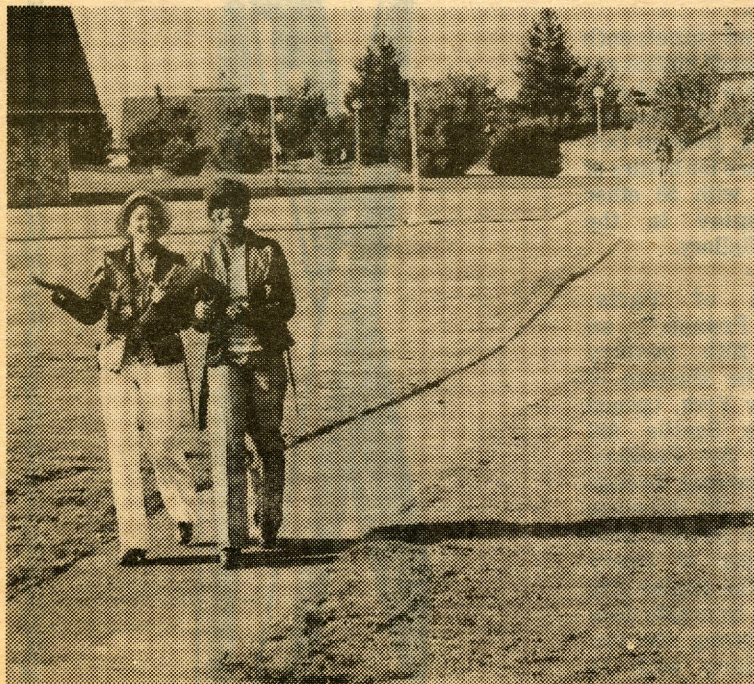

They also installed a new atomic spectrograph in the Science Department. The machine is used to determine, by the defraction of light rays, which elements a material contains.

Tonight's Fare: "Magnum Force"

This week's Friday night movies will be "Magnum Force" starring Clint Eastwood, and "Drowning Pool" starring Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward. The movies will begin at 7 p.m. in the TCC theatre, Bldg. 3. Tickets are $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12.

"Night Must Fall"

The first play of the 1977-78 school year, "Night Must Fall," will be presented Nov. 11, 12, 17, 18, and 19 in the Little Theatre at Tacoma Community College beginning at 8 p.m.

This mystery drama was written by Emyln Williams and will be directed by Janice Borcherth.

The four-man, five-woman production welcomes those on campus or in the community who wish to assist as stage technicians.

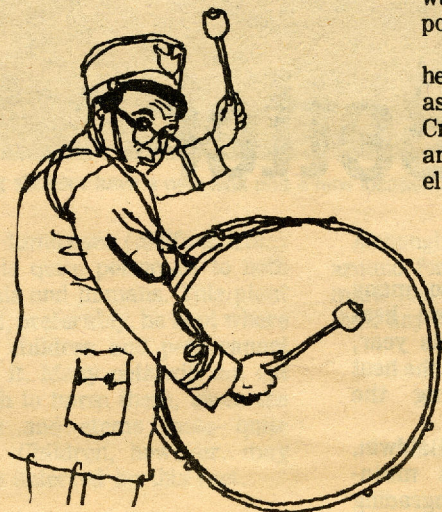

565 Broadway To House Oct. 28 Dance

TCC's first dance for the fall quarter will go down Oct. 28 at the Old Elks Hall at 565 Broadway.

According to TCC's entertainment coordinator, Cristwell Murray, the band, Elbowed Out, is "fantastic!" They've played at Paramount among other places, and are a Seattle-based group of seven members: Levester Chambliss, Clarence Acox, Ray Baldwin, Manuel Stanton, Rashid Smith, Dennis Wilcox and Gaylourd Young.

The Old Elks Hall is located across the street from Old City Hall. The dance will be upstairs, it's open (anyone can come), but ID's will be checked at the bar. The dance is paid for out of the student funds, so students will be protecting their interests by coming. The doors will open at 8:30 p.m., the dance starts at 9:00, and the fee is $2.00.

According to Murray, Elbowed Out is the first in a line-up of the "hottest bands in the Northwest" coming to TCC this quarter.

TCC Movies Create Jobs

"You name it, we do it!" says Cristwell Murray, the entertainment coordinator for TCC.

He's talking about the jobs which must be done to pull together a good time for TCC students, like running projectors, previewing films and bands, tickets, promotions, etc. And he's talking about the help he needs to get these jobs done. The movie scheduled for last Friday night was cancelled for lack of manpower.

Any students interested in helping out behind the scenes are asked to please get in touch with Cris Murray in Bldg. 15. The jobs are paying and students must be eligible for work study.

Cross Country Has High Potential

Bob Fiorito, starting his fourth year at the controls of the Cross Country squad at TCC, is counting heavily on his young but experienced team as they stride into the 1977 season.

Coach Fiorito is high on this year's team potential, even though he wasn't gifted with any greats such as Jim Ryan, Frank Shorter or Steve Prefontaine during last year's recruiting. He says he has some pretty talented runners on this squad. These include: Mike Gallagher, a sophomore and a former Wilson Ram, who was fifth in the region; and Frank Forth, a good sprint kicker.

Coach Fiorito is also excited about freshman Dwight Crocker. Dwight is a good miler and two-miler, and was tops among his peers in the region last year. Also, Coach Fiorito is high on other talents: Matt McKosky (Washington High), Ted Fick, Ed Santo (also Washington High) and Drew McGinley.

The cross country team needs more good runners, if it is to participate in the State competition this year. Fiorito says the runners he has now can't accumulate enough points to capture the prize. Don't forget running is good for the body, the cardio-vascular system and breathing, and may lead to a long life. Coach Fiorito doesn't care what shape you're in, just the shape you'll be in after you come out.

New runners won't be far behind, he says, as the team has been practicing only two weeks.

Dwight Crocker runs toward finish line and a second place finish.

Intramurals Varied

Intramural activities ranging from co-recreational volleyball to bowling and basketball are in the works for both TCC students and faculty.

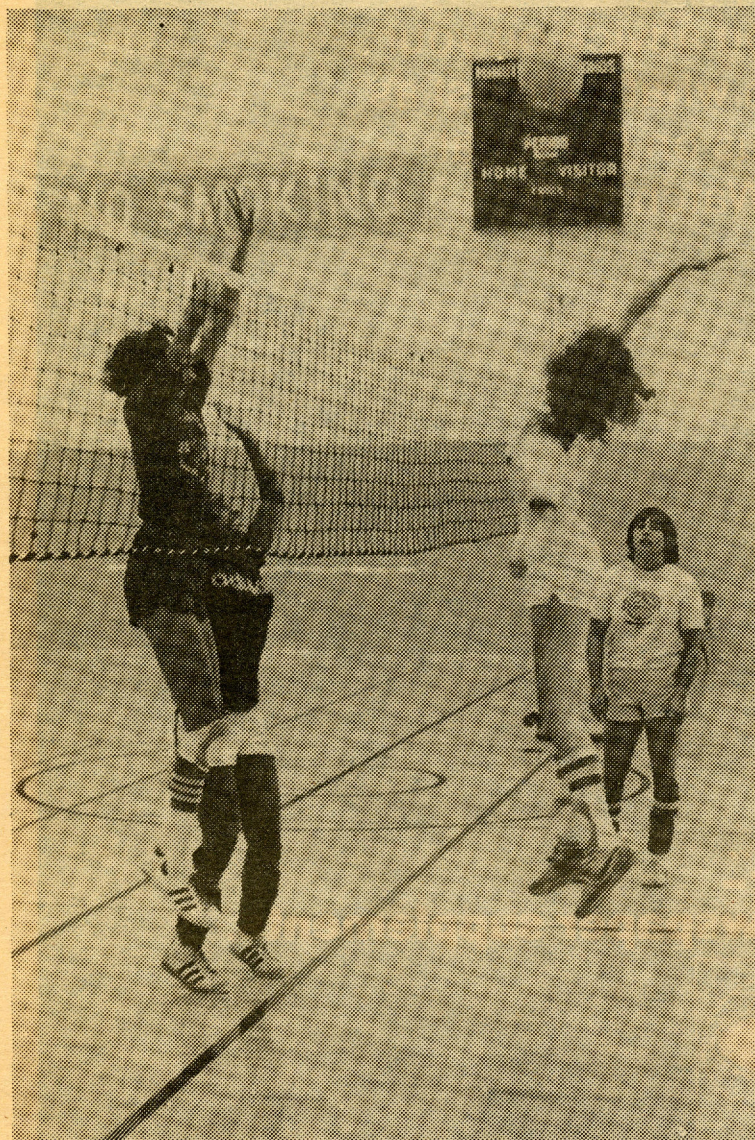

Volleyball and basketball are scheduled for the gym from 8-9:30 Monday through Wednesday. Also available are universal gym facilities, punching bag, badminton and ping-pong tables. Towels, locks, and lockers at no charge are available from intramural director Glynda Dunn in the gym. Basketball in the afternoon depends on gym availability.

Intramural bowling will begin with a meeting Thursday, Oct. 13, at Tower Lanes at 3 p.m. ac-ording to athletic director Phyllis Templin. Students and faculty are invited to compete each Thursday afternoon in handicap league play. The cost will be $2.50 per week.

Formation of the co-ed volleyball team was announced by Dunn. "Actually you could call it extra-mural," she explained, "since we plan to compete with intramural teams of other community colleges like Ft. Steilacoom and Green River." Games are on Wednesday evenings and practices will be arranged according to participants' schedules. Interested students and faculty should contact Dunn.

Volleyball Team Drops Opener

Volleyball team practices for today's match.

The TCC Volleyball team lost the season opener to Highline 3 to 2 last Friday.

Glynda Dunn, head coach, says there are seven new players this year and five left from last year's squad. "The girls are in good condition, physically and mentally. And working together is their strongest point," Dunn said.

The home schedule will be: Oct. 7, Oct. 19, Oct. 28, Nov. 18. Away games are Oct. 5, Ft. Steilacoom; Oct. 14, Grays Harbor; Oct. 21, Centralia; Oct. 26, Highline; and last, Nov. 4, Green River.

Coach Dunn encourages everybody to come out to watch the games. Admission is free.

There's a new pencil with an eraser at both ends. It's for people who do nothing but make mistakes.

A nice body is within your grasp.

Find out how next week. That's when you'll be getting "Insider"—a free magazine supplement to your college newspaper. It's another better idea from Ford. "Insider" won't give you advice on your love life, but it will give you help on what's almost as important. The subject is "Focus on Personal Energy: The New Fitness." Watch for it!

Look for "Insider"— Ford's continuing series of college newspaper supplements.
