Bill Kageler was elected the New Associated Student Body President of Tacoma Community College for the year 68-69. It is Bill's hope that closed circuit TV may be used for better communication on campus next year.

Bill said, "I am proposing reorganization to give student government better communication with faculty and administration to plan to stimulate the interest of incoming freshmen next year to join more campus activities."

Bill is married to the former Tess Swanson who graduated from Lincoln High School and they have one son, Kurt, who is 4 years old. Both Bill and Tess are Tacoma people and take an active interest in community affairs. He and his wife worked at the Brookside Boys' home the latter part of last year.

Bill indicated that he quit high school in Chehalis in 1957 and then went into the military service. Upon leaving the service in 1961 through 1967 he worked at construction and sawmill work. In 1967 of last year he went to Clover Park High School and received his high school diploma. Upon completion of high school there, he entered Tacoma Community College the fall quarter of 1967.

He is a member of the Tacoma Area Child Tutoring and also works during the summers at the Tyee Marina. Mrs. Kageler works at the Allenmore Hospital and the family resides at 838 South Oakes Street.

He said, "I am attending college under the G.I. Bill and thus far have decided to major in Sociology." His interests vary from fishing and hunting to working with people.

He said the program was developed jointly by TCC and the Tacoma Police Department.

Under the program, he said, TCC offers courses in law enforcement at the County-City Building.

Briggs New V.P.

By Polly J. Lewis

Ross Briggs was elected Associated Student Body Vice President at Tacoma Community College. Ross said, "I would like the students to know who the officers are next year so that the students may approach them with their various campus problems."

He is single, 24 years old and graduated from Stadium High School in 1962.

Ross further commented, "Many people on campus have the opinion that he believes in CENSORING of the press and this is NOT true because he believes in FREEDOM OF THE PRESS."

He belongs to the Circle K Club (Kiwans) and has been quite active this past year at Tacoma Community College in the pep club. His hobbies vary from sports and contemporary music to interior decorating. His major is literature and he would like to write in the future.

Ross said, "I am employed by the City Center Parking and work from 30 to 40 hours per week and am presently working my way through college."

He resides at 226 Stadium Way with 6 other bachelors.

TCC Concert a Success

The Tacoma Community College choral, band, and orchestra groups were warmly received by the more than 200 persons who attended a recent concert. The choral group was under the direction of J. Allan Clarke with Robert Dezell directing the band and orchestra.

The orchestral numbers included the "First Movement of Schubert's Symphony No. 1," Slavonic Dance No. 8" by Dvorak, and "Hungarian Dance No. 5" by Brahms. The orchestra has 27 members, most of whom are TCC students. Three, however, are members of the community. Membership in the TCC band and orchestra is open to all members of the community, Mr. Dezell said.

The band played "The Light Cavalry Overture" by von Suppe, a "Spiritual from Symphony No. 5 1/2" billed as a "symphony for fun," and written by the American composer, Don Gillis; "On the Streets of Athens" by John Cavacas; "A Festival Prelude" by Alfred Reed, and "Trumpet Fiesta" by Donald Phillips featuring Don Duncan and Jeff Doll.

Among the choral numbers were "Almighty and Everlasting God" by Orlando Gibbons, "Father Most Holy" by Crueger-Christian; "Hear My Supplication" by Alexandre Arhangelsky; and "Amen," a spiritual arranged by Jester Hairston. Miss Eunice Wallin was accompanist.

Students presently enrolled in TCC who intend to return next fall must make the $25 advance payment on fall quarter tuition by August 1 to guarantee themselves a place. Letters to this effect have been mailed to all students. Advance payment is to be sent to or made in person at the business office, Building 2, Mr. Joseph Kosai, Records Officer, said.

Fall quarter enrollment is the heaviest of the year, Mr. Kosai noted. He said daytime classes in the fall quarter frequently close because of the heavy demand. The nonrefundable $25 advance payment facilities advance planning for the college and enables it to assure students a place in school.

EDITORIALS . . .

For the past nine months the editor of the Tacoma Community College student newspaper, The Collegiate Challenge, has made many sacrifices to create a better newspaper for our students.

We of the Challenge maintain a high respect for the efforts of the editor. We also know that there was a student newspaper out every Friday according to schedule without exception. This in itself was only because of the ability of the editor to display leadership and an inspiration to work by.

The editor of a college newspaper has to be dedicated, trustworthy, dependable, and efficient. Marshall Vigus was all of these and much more. He is a credit to his college and his profession as an editor. Mr. Vigus was position holder in the national Who's Who in American Colleges.

If more people had the talented wisdom of Marshall Vigus this campus would be a much more enlightened place to receive an education. Thank you, Marshall, for your undying dedication.

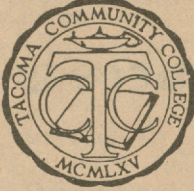

Managing Editor
Douglas T. Jacques

The Challenge was greatly dismayed at the mistake-ridden outcome of the Cronus. We are positive that many hours of work must have gone into the preparation of the Cronus, but it sure didn't show up. It is a terrible misfortune that so much of the students' money was spent on this arrangement of pages which doesn't even burn very well. Well, that's all right; GASTCC led the way with mistakes, the Cronus only followed.

We would like to give the Cronus these words of thanks:

The Challenge would like to congratulate the Cronus for their mistakes.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Students:

This letter is to inform both students and faculty that I, Doug Jacques, have resigned as Editor in Chief of our college's newspaper. Some of the reasons for my resignation are personal, but the main problem is lack of student participation in activities such as the student newspaper.

TCC is a good school, and I do not feel that I have the inspiration needed to turn rags to riches.

Dear Editor:

Students are being asked to swallow GASTCC censorship by VP candidate Ross Briggs who suggested that GASTCC, "if necessary", read the paper before it goes to the printer.

What this means is that GASTCC would become the sole news center off the campus.

It would mean that the "tastes" and opinions of one small body would decide what is printed in your paper.

It would give GASTCC the power to silence news of campus groups which they didn't approve of.

As in the Mel Carter flop it would put your paper at the disposal of student government projects that don't have the support of fellow students.

It would put the paper in the position of having to publish the delays and unimaginative minutes of verbosity and petty prejudices.

In short, it means a dictatorship of the unnewsworthy.

Americans in 1965 spent a total of $12 million for alcohol and $8 million for tobacco — compared to $2 million for books.

Americans earned a total of 667,592 college and university degrees during 1964-65.

Dear Editor:

You have been good enough to send me copies of the Challenge since it was inaugurated. You are to be congratulated in your attempt to present the feelings of the students and the faculty at the community college in an objective and intelligent manner.

The concerns, strife, and tensions of today's world are reflected in your articles and editorials, but through it all your pages have indicated that the students of TCC are interested in being responsible citizens and make a contribution to our community.

Thank you for sharing the Challenge with me. As a middle class, middle-aged white American, it helps me to understand the thoughts and convictions of young America. Good luck to you all!

101 Graduating Soph.

TCC's 101 graduating sophomores and about 300 relatives and friends gathered at the gym Friday, June 7 to experience ICC's Third Annual Commencement Day Exercises.

Black frocked faculty and blue robed students filed to their seats while Robert Dezell directed the concert band.

When all were seated Sophomore Class Speaker Ralph Lochridge urged them to get involved in our unresolved racial problems which results in second class education for Blacks. Lochridge blasted segregation at the Elks Club and warned against indifference which prevailed among the inhabitants of Dante's Inferno...

Guest speaker Irving Clark, KING radio personality, continued the involvement theme in his address, 'Communications and the Generation Gap.' Clark said the children of today are better educated than their parents because the mass media (newspaper, radio, TV) are pouring out more knowledge than the older generations had access to and more knowledge than the present generation can filter.

Clark denounced the lack of involvement among the populace and in the mass media. Clark pointed to the violence on TV and to the politically uninvolved — "Do your thing—then wire your representative."

After Clark spoke, Donald Weakly and Kelly Halligan, representing the Sophomore Class, presented Frank E. Cooper, chairman of TCC's Board of Trustees, with a $200 check to be used for a campus fountain.

The Sophomore class was then named and called to the dias to receive their degrees from Dr. Thornton M. Ford, TCC's president.

As the students passed along the dias and down the creeping portable step well, student body Vice President Ross Briggs anchored the slipping structure and offered his hand to suddenly wide-eyed ladies as they stiffened down the stairs, adjusting caps and tassels.

Beverly Kosai, who held a 4-point grade average, was awarded the President's Medal by Dr. Ford in a separate presentation.

The entire aggregation then moved to the Food Services Building where a reception was held honoring the graduates and their parents.

Speakers Urge Involvement

Two speakers from two generations urged Tacoma Community College graduates to get involved.

Irving Clark Jr., Seattle attorney and radio personality, advised the graduates: "Do your own thing . . . take a position . . . get involved."

And the sophomore class speaker, Ralph Lochridge, urged his fellow graduates to get involved in the civil rights struggle—not in Harlem but in Tacoma.

About 170 persons donned blue caps and gowns to receive Associate in Liberal Arts or Associate in Technical Arts degrees. A standing-room-only crowd of more than 1,000 attended the ceremonies in the TCC Physical Education Building.

When Dr. Paul E. Jacobson, dean of instruction, read off the list of degree recipients, one member of the TCC Board of Trustees rose. He was Charles L. Edmunds, who received an Associate in Liberal Arts degree.

Dr. Thornton M. Ford, TCC president, conferred the President's Medal, symbolic of the top academic performance among the graduates, on Mrs. Joseph Kosai. She maintained a straight A

One TCC faculty member watched the award of the President's Medal with more than ordinary pride. Mrs. Kosai's husband is records officer at TCC.

Mrs. Kosai, a graduate of Fife High School, plans to continue her education at the University of Puget Sound.

Four graduates were presented service awards. They were Tom Brewer, Mitzi Rochester, Walter R. Snover and Donald B. Weakly.

Weakly and Kelly Halligan presented the sophomore class gift — a $200 check to be used for a fountain on campus — to Frank Cooper, chairman of the TCC Board of Trustees.

Clark told the graduates that two of the country's most serious problems are its "tolerance for violence" and the urban crisis.

"Students of today," he said, "are infinitely better trained and informed" than past generations. "There is no comparison," he said.

He said people today are bombarded with a much greater volume of information than in the past. "Your problem of filtering information is much greater than any one who sat in your place a generation ago," he declared.

Lochridge asked his fellow students for "total commitment" in working to solve racial problems. "We can't afford to sit around any longer," he said.

TCC's Trackmen Attended State Meet Hopes Were Spoiled by Odd Ruling

Vandegrift Dropped; 220 Produced Ruling

By Terry Rice

In track Tacoma Community College placed fifth in the state meet. The meet which was a two day affair closed out the season for cindermen.

In preliminary action Friday three of the four trackmen who had to place in the preliminaries did so. Mike Page qualified in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes. (Placing 3rd in the 100 with a time of 10.0 and 2nd in the 220 with a time of 21.9.) John Green qualified first in his heat of the 440 with a time of 49.8 and fourth in his heat of the 220 with a time of 22.2. Ed Miller did not qualify in the triple jump, but took first in his heat of the 330 intermediate hurdles with a time of 39.3.

Gary Vandegrift

His time in that event was 39.5. In the half mile Tacoma picked up a third place finish when Jon Hayes ran a 1:56.1. In the two distance events, mile and two mile, Jon Hayes placed fifth and second. His fifth place finish came in the mile with a time of 4:14.5 and second place in the two mile, just being nudged out with a time of 9:16.3. First place finish in that event was 9:15.1 by Joe Baish of Highline. It is interesting to note that only two records were broken, both being those events which John Hayes was in.

After final meet tabulation was in and the stands had been emptied away by the rising water which would have even made Noah shudder, the score stood with Shoreline in first with 125 points and Yakima Valley College second with 56. Following these were Highline 54, Everett 52, Tacoma 49, Wenatchee 44, Olympic 30, Spokane 26, Clark 24, Green River 17, Lower Columbia 16, Columbia Basin 13, Grays Harbor 10, Skagit Valley 4, Bellevue and Centralia 3.

Four TCC Trackmen Rate High In Nation Make JC Honor List

Four of Tacoma's cindermen are now on the community college honor list. To receive this honor you have to be within the top six in the nation. They are

John Hayes in the mile and two mile, Mike Page in the 220, and the mile relay team of Page, John Green, Ed Miller, and Gary Vandegrift.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"GO AHEAD — ASK ME SOMETHING."

In the Saturday finals the cindermen from Shoreline walked away with an easy win. The Samurai track men were the only ones who could withstand the rainy conditions at the University of Washington stadium.

Leading Tacoma's effort was Mike Page with a third place finish in the 100 at 9.9 and second in the 220 at 21.9. Other finishers were John Green, second in the 440 yard dash and fourth in the 220 yard dash with times of 49.1 and 22.2 respectively. Ed Miller took third in the 330 intermediate hurdles, an event which he was converted to half-way through the season because of an abundance of half milers.

Durkan Speaks at T.C.C. Student Union Building

By Bonnie Taylor

"The main problems facing the state today are those concerned with urban renewal and development including welfare problems, increases in crime, and the problem of financing government," State Senator Martin Durkan told TCC students last week.

The Issaquah Democrat added: "The present welfare state was created by the Democrats with their grant system, and it's up to us to take the lead in solving the problem."

He pointed out that of the 130,000 on the welfare rolls of this state, 38,000 are over 65, most of whom are existing under substandard conditions. "This is a deplorable situation," he said.

There are 14,000 between the ages of 19 and 50 who are caught in the poverty circle. He suggested a program of rehabilitation, training, and job subsidization to future employers as a beginning. "A job," he said, "will give the wage earner a paycheck. A paycheck will enable him to finance adequate housing for his family. It will also give him some money for recreation which should help to keep him out of trouble. We must come up with solutions to the welfare and poverty problems, if we are to solve the problems of the central areas," he added.

As far as the crime problem is concerned, setting up a state narcotics bureau was suggested on the grounds that the local levels of law enforcement are not well enough equipped to handle the increasing drug problem. "A good many cases of theft and prostitution," he said, "can be traced directly back to narcotics addiction." Legalizing marijuana would be wrong Durkan believes because its use leads to "mainlining" in too many cases.

"Tax reform is needed," Durkan said. His program does not include a graduated net income tax by itself. He said he favors a limitation on property tax as well as fewer tax exemptions for religious organizations that compete with private business.

When questioned about the Green-belt which would set aside areas around cities for parks and recreational areas, Senator Durkan said he favored HJR 1 which will be on the ballot next year. This resolution will permit the drafting of green belt legislation. "There must be some place for the people in the central areas to go in the summer. Mayor Braman (Seattle) told them last year he'd 'turn on the fire hydrants' for them. This isn't a solution."

He said also, "A youth cen-

Dale Wirsing, public information officer and journalism adviser at TCC, has been elected president of the Tacoma-Pierce County Library Council, a group of lay people and librarians that works to encourage development of library services for the area.

ter is desperately needed in Seattle. Young people are three deep in the present one; there's no place for them to go. Kids that are busy playing pool or ping pong or swimming are too busy to want to throw rocks."

When choices have to be made about the higher education dollar, Durkin said, the emphasis should be on the first four years of college. He added: "Those who seek graduate work should be more dependent on their own resources."

He said he will make an official announcement of his plans to run for governor in the next few weeks. "I'll be back next quarter to speak to the students again," he concluded.

SICK, ROTTEN WORLD

A black student leader from the University of California at Berkeley told about 200 Tacoma Community College students Tuesday that violence is justified if it is used "to bring order to the sick, rotten world."

Frank Jenkins, chairman of the Afro-American student union at the University of California, said violence should be viewed as a "tool act" that can be used to bring about "the ultimate freedom of man."

When a TCC student asked Jenkins if he agreed with the philosophy of non-violence espoused by the late Martin Luther King, Jenkins replied: "No."

Jenkins told a white questioner: "You enslaved a race and stole its culture."

And the questioner shot back: "Not me, I wasn't here."

A spokesman for the black student union at the University of Washington, Jim Ashhurst, said black students have to resort to sit-ins and demonstrations to get meaningful answers to their questions.

Michael Rosen, northwest legal representative for the American Civil Liberties Union, said he would like to see a greater student voice in the decision-making process in colleges and universities.

The basic question about student power he said is:

"Can universities respond to demands in a democratic framework or is, as the radicals assert the only way out total destruction of the university?"

Jenkins, Ashhurst and Rosen were participating in a panel on student power sponsored by the TCC Political Science Forum.

By Lorie Schmechel

It has recently been discussed by the newly elected student body officers to have Building 15 used as a Student Union Building. They feel it is for the best interests of the college and the community of Tacoma to allow this change. The following are points stated in favor of this idea.

1. Student participation at Tacoma Community College is minimal because there is no central area for student government and student organization to meet.

2. There is no available space for the clubs and organizations at Tacoma Community College to maintain office space, and the students are not given the opportunity to participate in clubs and organizations for this reason.

3. The Collegiate Challenge, Tacoma Community College's newspaper, is at present completely removed from the general activities on campus. The effectiveness of the newspaper could be enhanced by having its office located with other organizations on campus.

T.C.C.'s Talent Show

By Bonnie Taylor

At its first annual talent show the Tacoma Community College Performing Arts Club presented a continuing trophy to Dr. Paul Jacobsen, dean of students, who accepted on behalf of the college. The trophy was presented by Jack Lake, club president.

The name of Charles Canada, who captured first place with his oration, "The Constitution and Education," will be inscribed on the trophy. Subsequent first place winners names will also be inscribed.

Other winners were Ron Appling, a tenor soloist, who sang "Love, the Perfect Gift" and "Impossible Dream," second place; and Eric Miller and Gayle Turlis who won third place with a medley of six folk songs, four of which were composed by Miller. Miss Turlis sang while Miller sang and accompanied them on the guitar.

Emcee for the show was Charles Summers, speech instructor. Judges were Dr. LeRoy Ostransky, professor of music at the University of Puget Sound, and Dr. Abe Bassett, of the Pacific Lutheran University drama department.

Allan Clarke's Bel Canto singers provided entertainment while the judges were reaching their decision.

4. There is no permanently established meeting area at Tacoma Community College in which guest lecturers, artists, etc may meet. Therefore, it is very difficult for students to participate in events that are taking place on campus; they are not adequate for large groups.

5. The students at Tacoma Community College do not have an area on campus in which they may gather for fruitful academic discussions and thus are limited in their learning opportunities.

6. Facilities presently in use for student organizations are not adequate for large groups.

7. The facilities in Building 15 at present are not being used to their full capacities, and the students of Tacoma Community College feel they would be able to use this area to its fullest capacity.

8. There would not have to be any changes in the present designs of the building to make it adequate and acceptable to the students of Tacoma Community College.

Proposed Cigarette Policy

The Associated Students of Tacoma Community College do hereby officially ask the Administrations to allow the sale of tobacco products as soon as possible on this campus.

We recommend that the sale place be the cafeteria and strongly support the sale of tobacco products to only those persons over 21 years of age, in respect of the state law.

We realize complications can and will arise, but ask the Administration to realize the problem has been discussed in detail by the students and administrators with lawyers, law officials and doctors.

We ask that Student Government be allowed to help in designing the process to be used and to be able to share in its development.

(Note: the cigarette machines were voted down at a recent board of trustees meeting.)

Tacoma To Suffer

"The current controversy between the Mayor and the City Manager is damaging to the city and could have far-flung repercussions, affecting not only the '68 state elections but the national ones as well," stated Mr. Jack Tanner, lawyer, voicing his views to the TCC student body on Tacoma's present political situation.

"When you have someone who is using the city as Mr. Rasmussen is for a springboard to bigger and better things, it's hard to tell what might happen," he added.

Comparing the Mayor to a football coach and the city manager, David Rowlands, to its quarterback, he said "When a coach and his quarterback are at odds, the team goes no place fast." He added that he felt the majority of the council members were in favor of progress but that they were being controlled by the recently elected minority.

"The downtown area needs help," Mr. Tanner said. "The affluent people who can afford to pay taxes and support the city services are moving out, leaving the underprivileged second and third class citizens to foot the bill. Those who are moving out return only to use the services."

Mr. Tanner raised the question, "If our mayor is non-partisan, why does he speak only before Democratic groups, and if he is the Mayor Tacoma, why does he spend so much time at a Puyallup radio station which is owned and operated by the John Birch Society?" He stated further that this same station boasted it had influenced Mr. Rasmussen to run for Tacoma Mayor and furthermore that it had elected him.

Referring to Tuesday's election, Mr. Tanner said, "I understand that the Mayor expects Mr. Rowlands to resign if the voters favor a strong mayor. I wonder if the Mayor will resign if the voters favor a strong manager." (Ed.

note: Mayor Rasmussen, in his speech before the student body one day prior to Mr. Tanner, stated that if the city favored a strong city manager, then he would be forced to make the best of a bad situation.)

When asked about the Mayor's statement that he was saving the city money by not going on trips, Mr. Tanner said that anyone could save money for awhile if they did not pay his bills, but that in the long run he was going to suffer. "Here Tacoma is going to suffer. No one can keep abreast of rapidly changing events and conditions if he does not attend conferences and seminars with other mayors. A progressive mayor must find out what is going on in the rest of the world if he is to be effective in his own community."

Broadening the scope of his speech, Mr. Tanner reiterated an earlier statement that he intended to be the Democratic nominee for governor in the '68 election. "Further," he said, "I feel that an 18 year old who is old enough by law to be married and have children or to go to Vietnam and be killed is old enough to vote, and this issue will be part of the platform on which I conduct my campaign."

A student asked, "Doesn't the NAACP work exclusively for the advancement of colored people and, if so, why?..."

"The black people," Mr. Tanner replied, "have been a third class citizenry for 300 years; they have gone down as far as they can go and need a lot of help to get up to the level of the first class citizenry. A third class citizenry is a drag on the country as a whole and everyone is going to suffer as present conditions exist."

"But why should I suffer," the questioner asked. "I didn't ask to be born white."

"I didn't ask to be born black either," Mr. Tanner said quietly.

Mrs. Mary R. Pattee, bookstore manager at Tacoma Community College, has received a certificate of completion in the Booksellers Course sponsored by the National Association of College Stores.

Two oil paintings have been donated to the Tacoma Community College Library in memory of the late Jennie Elizabeth Hazeltine, who was a TCC student from the fall of 1967 until her death in April.

TCC To Help Disadvantaged

Tacoma Community College's Board of Trustees approved a contract Wednesday to train between 30 and 35 disadvantaged persons for professional careers.

H. J. Schafer, director of community services for TCC, told the Board that TCC is one of four colleges in the state to participate in the "New Careers" Program, which is operated by the State Office of Economic Opportunity and funded by the U. S. Department of Labor.

Under the program, he said, selected disadvantaged persons will work for state agencies three days a week and attend classes at TCC two days a week.

The idea behind the program, Schafer said, is that the college will equip participants with the education they need to advance to professional positions such as social workers and urban planners.

Edward Chatman Jr., area coordinator and training specialist for the OEO, will teach the first course in the program this summer at TCC.

Schafer said that a faculty advisory committee will be appointed to develop new teaching methods, a suitable curriculum and methods of evaluation.

He noted that about one-third of the 100 people in the state to be served by the program will be enrolled at TCC.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Hazeltine of Portland. Her parents, friends and relatives donated the two paintings, "Dahlias" and "White Roses."

Both paintings are by Donald E. Tracey of the TCC art faculty. "Dahlias" was awarded first place for oils in the Pacific Gallery Artists interseate competition in Tacoma this year.

The Mayor Pushes For Resignation

By Bonnie Taylor

"The city manager title," Mayor A. L. Rasmussen stated in a recent speech before members of the TCC student body, "came about because some little city clerk didn't like being called a city clerk and so changed his title."

He continued, "The city manager form of government is fine for a city under 500, but any city over that deserves the services of an elected official."

"Any form of government—be it local, state, or national — is decided upon by the people and can be changed by them any time they desire. I campaigned on the issue of a strong mayor form of government and my election as mayor was confirmation enough for me, at least, that the people desired a change. Apparently, Mr. Rowlands disagrees," he added.

The Mayor further stated that he understood it was the common practice for any official appointed by the out-going administration to submit his resignation to the new administrator, letting him decide who to keep. "At least," he said, "this is the practice on the state and national levels. I assumed it was the practice at the local level also."

The Mayor expressed interest in the Model City program but only if it could be attained without urban renewal. The Mayor leafed through a stack of papers and said that he had evidence of many cases in which grasping property owners had taken over property cleared in the name of urban renewal and used it for their own purposes, leaving the dispossessed people with no place to live or with rental apartments they could not afford the only housing available.
