Capital projects total $1,000,000

By Candy Reece

Donald Gangnes, Dean of Planning, Development and Program Evaluation, recently announced that $1.3 million has been awarded to TCC for capital improvements.

The action by the state legislature designated $271,443 for improvement of facilities to accommodate handicapped persons. In addition, areas of heating, ventilation and air conditioning received $479,000. Roof repairs for campus buildings received $119,000.

Internal modification of the art building to develop specialized art laboratory areas received $241,600. Renovation of the music classrooms received $234,000. Repairs and minor improvement projects received $36,300.

Dean Gangnes began planning for the handicapped improvement projects just over two years ago. The state identified TCC as a state institution that needs improvements to comply with federal government guidelines.

The two Tacoma consulting firms selected by TCC are Swedberg & Associates, and Seifert & Forbes Architects. The firms will determine modifications to meet federal handicapped guidelines, such as slope limits on sidewalks, restrooms, doorways, parking, access to local transit stops, and installation of several automated door systems.

The current heating and ventilation systems originally installed on the buildings was constructed 12 years ago, and are in desperate need of renovation, according to Gangnes. The repairs are complicated because no two systems in the various buildings are the same.

Scheduled roof repairs will eliminate the need for buckets in the buildings on rainy days.

Outside noises will no longer disturb students once the soundproofing modifications are completed.

Minor repairs on campus are funded by accumulating $3 from each student's tuition fee and depositing the funds in the state treasury.

In addition to projects that have been approved, a student center for $5 million has also been proposed. It will house services such as student government, admissions, and a bookstore. Dean Gangnes hopes this project will be funded next biennium.

CIA active on college campuses

The U.S. Central Intelligence Agency is deeply involved with American universities and professors, and is fighting hard to resist efforts to oust the spy agency from academia, Penthouse magazine charges in its October issue.

"According to intelligence sources, at least 350 academics and administrators are covertly working for the CIA on more than 100 American campuses," the magazine says.

"They form a link with the CIA that has become so pervasive that there is some doubt whether a complete break between the two can ever be achieved."

According to journalist Ernest Volkman, the CIA's operations on campus including using professors as researchers and spies during trips abroad, and recruiting both American and foreign students as agents. Third World students studying in the United States are special targets for recruitment since the CIA would like to have foreign leaders on its payroll.

Penthouse also charges that the CIA cooperated with SAVAK, the secret police of the Shah of Iran before the Islamic revolution in Tehran, in identifying anti-Shah Iranian students. The families of such students later were visited in Iran by SAVAK agents who tried to convince the families to dissuade their children from political activities.

Although many professors find CIA tries to be lucrative, Harvard University's President Derek Bok — who inaugurated an effort to regulate CIA activities at Harvard over three years ago — believes that "CIA covert recruiting threatens the integrity and independence of the academic community."

In response to guidelines written by Harvard to restrict some CIA activities and to expose others, the spy agency said flatly it would ignore the Harvard guidelines.

President Carter's CIA director, Adm. Stansfield Turner, has declared: "If we were required to abide by the rules of every corporation, every academic institution, it would become impossible to do the required job for our country. Harvard does not have any legal authority over us."

In addition to Harvard: the CIA is especially active in other Ivy League schools — a traditional recruiting ground for agency spies and executives. But in recent years, Penthouse discovered, the agency has also been active in other universities. Among them:

—The University of Michigan. "According to newly revealed documents, many individuals on the faculty of the university's Center for Chinese Studies for years have had secret relationships with the CIA..." Penthouse says.

—UCLA. A visiting Canadian scholar, Paul Lin, was put under FBI surveillance because he had lived in China for 15 years.

—University of Illinois at Chicago Circle. "There has been extensive CIA involvement at this campus because of the large number of Iranian students enrolled." The magazine says the CIA worked closely with the FBI and the Chicago Police Department's "Red Squad" to harass Iranian students who opposed the Shah.

—University of Kentucky. CIA chief Turner is a member of the Board of Advisers of the university's Patterson School of Law and Diplomacy "which ... does work for the agency," the magazine says.

—Notre Dame. "A particular favorite recruiting target," according to Penthouse.

For ASTCC

All positions open

The SENATE is the legislative and policy making arm of student government. Any student may serve on the senate by simply enrolling with the Director of Student Programs at the beginning of each quarter. Members of the senate who wish to vote in senate proceedings must also complete Political Science 299 which is offered by the Office of Student Programs. Student senators may elect to receive two political science credits for this training by also registering for the class in building two. The senate elects its own presiding officer and committee chairpersons.

The two major responsibilities of the senate are to serve as a platform for the airing and discussion of issues affecting students at the college and to serve as the budget committee for the development of the student services and activities fee budget each spring. The student senate also selects the student members of the ASTCC Advisory Board.

The EXECUTIVE OFFICERS consists of a president, treasurer, secretary and activities manager. They are selected by the ASTCC Advisory Board. The president is the official spokesperson for students at the college and is held accountable for that function by the senate. The secretary serves as a direct link between the executive branch and the senate by serving as the recorder for all senate proceedings and records. The treasurer oversees the status and development of the service and activities fee budget. The activities manager is responsible for major aspects of student activities programming.

The ADVISORY BOARD is an 11 member body consisting of six students, three faculty members and two administrators. The Advisory Board, like the senate, elects its own chairperson. The Board has three major responsibilities. It is responsible for screening and selecting the executive officers from among those students who apply. It must serve as a student budget advisory committee and provide the senate with some general recommendations to assist in the development of the final student budget that is submitted to the board of trustees. The Advisory Board must also insure that the senate does not concern itself with executive operations nor the executive officers with legislation.

If you are interested in being a part of student government or if you have any questions about the program - feel free to stop by building 15 or call the office of student programs at 756-5115. Deadline for applications is October 9, 1979.

Wilson to head Challenge

Ronald Wilson, a second-year student at TCC, will be the new editor of the Collegiate Challenge.

Wilson is a journalism-military science major. He graduated from Santa Fe High School in Alachua, Florida, but did a six-year military tour before returning to school.

Wilson will be taking over the first issue of the year. Wilson takes over from Kelly Gordon, who graduated from TCC last spring.

Wilson served as a reporter under Gordon for the winter quarter of last year.

Wilson plans to orient the paper more to student interest, extend circulation to the community, and place more emphasis on controversial issues. He would really like to see more student ideas and opinions in the paper than have been in past issues.

In May of 1979 Secretary of State Cyrus Vance made one of the most important announcements of the century. After some carefully phrased rhetoric on international law and a U.S. commitment to world peace, he said, "the U.S. and U.S.S.R. have concluded our negotiations on SALT."

After more than six years the U.S. and U.S.S.R. had reached a Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty, that both felt comfortable with. The length of time it has taken to negotiate SALT II is testimony to its complexity and careful planning. The existence of such a treaty enhances the national security of the two most powerful nations on earth.

The purpose of SALT II was to maintain a strategic balance that would reduce the possibility of nuclear war. As set forth in the treaty this was to be done via, allowing both the U.S. and U.S.S.R. a force that could sustain a surprise nuclear attack, and still have the capability to launch an equally destructive counterattack. SALT II was never negotiated in the light that it would be a disarmament treaty.

In time SALT will allow both the U.S. and U.S.S.R. to maintain a strategic balance at a lower level of nuclear arms. This is still a long way in the future. Then what's the purpose of SALT and the senate's ratification of SALT II?, you ask.

1. The ratification of SALT II would be a clear signal to the Soviets that the U.S. is serious about eventually reducing the size of nuclear arsenals, and dismantling a major portion of those in use.
2. It would serve to promote a degree of detente that has been achieved in no other area of U.S. Soviet relations.
3. Restore a sinking faith in the U.S. from Europe, who views the U.S. role as an effective world leader questionably. These European nations are equally concerned with Soviet nuclear capability.

SALT II is not the final solution to the nuclear arms problem. It is part of an effective beginning. The treaty is not without flaw. It does not deal with bombers, nor does it take an active role in dealing with the modernization of weapons systems. Some may argue the treaty is not nearly enough. SALT II is however a step beyond SALT I, which dealt mainly with the deployment of anti missile systems. Realistically it is about the best we're going to get in a real world situation, with the two most powerful nations on earth who stand in mortal fear of each other.

It may take ten such talks before either side talks about the real issue of nuclear disarmament. But even so, each treaty is a step closer to a liveable and final solution.

It is now left to the Senate to bring about the next step in that solution. No matter how many flaws the Senate finds in the treaty, the fact that it was successfully negotiated by both sides is proof of its need. In what seems to be forever since the concluding of the treaty, the Senate has gracefully side stepped the main issue of ratification.

We were first bombarded with a shower of out dated statistics, showing the treaty was unfair because it failed to consider Soviet conventional build up. Hogwash, the Soviet superiority in conventional forces is not a over night accomplishment. Every major U.S. intelligence agency has warned the Senate and Presidential administrations since the late 1960's that the Soviets were starting a massive conventional build up.

Secondly, it was argued that the U.S. was held to zero in the area of modern heavy multiple independent-targetable re-entry vehicles intercontinental ballistic missiles, such as the giant Soviet SS 18. It was a deliberate decision by the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff to scrap the MX in favor of the Minuteman III.

Third, a host of Senators have jumped on the band wagon, that U.S. is getting less than a deal with SALT II. To date that is all it has been, band wagon rhetoric. Many members of the Senate seem to think this is a popular angle for an election year. Only Senator Jake Garn (D) Utah has actually presented a defensible position against SALT II. It should, be noted that Sen. Garn looks at the entire implication of SALT and not isolated fragments. Sen. Garn noted quite correctly what American strategists have feared for a great while. Soviet land based rockets with the Hydrahead heavy missiles could destroy all 1000 U.S. Minuteman III missiles in a first strike.

The Challenge encourages any student or faculty member with ideas or comments to develop it in the form of an editorial comment and submit it for publication. You may comment on any world or local situation, or you may submit remedies for any world or local problem. Because of limited space, we ask that you hold your writing to 1500 words or less.

The next mighty out cry about SALT was the U.S. had no way of verifying the Soviets were living up to their end of the agreement. Truth be known, all the Soviets really have from U.S., is our word of agreement to treaty stipulation.

Last the Senate was side tracked by an uncovering of some 3000 Soviet infantry troops in Cuba. While there should be concern about a Soviet troop build so close to our own shores, it can in no way be equated to SALT. The only real worry the U.S. has about Soviet troops in Cuba is, will they try to move a larger force there in following years. The presence of an infantry unit of this size can be likened to gnats at a picnic. They are very irritating, but propose no treat.

In effect the Senate has no real reason not to ratify SALT II. It is beneficial to all concerned. A failure to do so would be a clear signal to the world that the U.S. is not as committed as it says, to a slow down in the nuclear arms race. If the treaty were not ratified, it would surely send the Soviets home suspecting the worst possibility. It would probably be the beginning of a new and intensified arms race on both sides.

The Senate has asked the American people to dismiss some of its past blunders as "small cases of imperfection." If a mindless, spineless, Senate fails to ratify this treaty under some of the shallow pretenses it has thrown to the public, this will have to be labeled for exactly what it is. "A clear case of misdirection." Thank you, for your time.

Mayor reviews

Tacoma during the Parker administration

By Marie Rice

When asked recently if his hopes for Tacoma have changed during 20 months as mayor, Mike Parker said "No, my original goals have expanded. "My campaign platform was economic development, and I have been working diligently to that end. My first effort was to get authorization approved to rezone the Mall. The result was a large expansion and $1 million increase in tax revenue."

Giving an overview of recent economic growth, Parker mentioned revitalization projects such as South Tacoma Way and K Street. The city has built covered walkways, planned parks and a more convenient transit system, planted substantial shrubbery and solved parking problems. To upgrade business, "there should be a good product mix—clean shops and a good look with pleasing surroundings," he said.

"Our plans to strengthen the downtown will move 20 percent more people into it," he said. "The City Hall is moving into the old Medical Arts building. The Bicentennial Pavilion attracts residents and tourists." The downtown will have little major retail trade. Businesses such as restaurants and small shops will be tied to offices, education, and sports, recreational, cultural and convention activities. Through federal grants and loans, the city has purchased the Roxy Theatre building to remodel it into a performing arts center—the Pantages Theatre, paid half the cost of the University of Puget Sound law center, and partial financing of the Historic American Engineering Record study of the rehabilitation of the old warehouse district.

provide attractions for them to stop. We want to tie a sports and recreation complex to the downtown and Union Station."

The Hawthorne area along Interstate 5 has been endorsed by major businesses and Tacoma community leaders for a proposed sports and convention center and international exposition in 1989 to commemorate the centennial of the state. This area is approximately 67 acres which is large enough for a permanent civic center and world's fair complex with adequate parking.

A suggested rapid transit system could link the performing arts center to the Bicentennial Pavilion to Union Station and a proposed recreation-amusement park along the city waterway below Union Station to the south end of the waterway to the Hawthorne area.

The Burlington Northern Railroad Company has had long-standing plans to restore Union Station and install shops and restaurants. The station could become a crucial part of the overall plan if it should become a transportation center with private car parking, interstate bus service, rail service, city busses, and rapid transit depot. Burlington officials have indicated a possible interest in building a hotel on their property as they did in the development of the Spokane Expo of 1974.

A civic center and world's fair complex "has a real potential in entry level employment," Parker said. "Hotel, restaurants and services offer unskilled jobs to young people, minorities and others" and would add greatly to Tacoma's economic development.

Urban growth is evident in other areas as well. Public institutions have been upgraded such as the consolidation of the county and city jails and major remodeling of the jail in the Court House.

"Through more aggressive appointments, the public housing authority has increased the amount and quality of housing," Parker said.

The Princess Marguerite makes an annual trip between Tacoma and Victoria. The city picks up trash every spring and fall. "The Fourth of July celebration and Thanksgiving dinner for the poor and elderly were going to be dropped. I picked them up and continued them. And the health care program has been expanded to day care screening of preschoolers for possible health problems," he said.

Wapato Lake is undergoing a major water-quality study to remove the settlement of sediments in the swimming area. The zoo at Point Defiance is being expanded and the city is paying the operational funds. Negotiations are underway with the Milwaukee Road for 65 miles of railroad and an excursion train between Tacoma and Morton and stops at Northwest Trek and various lakes.

The sister city program has added Kunsan, Korea and Kiryat Motzkin, Israel to Kitakyushu, Japan. Art exhibits, student exchanges, visits of delegates from different occupations, trades, private citizens involve Tacomans more with people in other countries. The City of Tacoma's official visit to the People's Republic of China will invite that country and Kitakyushu to participate in a future "Mini Fair."

Parker said his goals have expanded. The past 20 months have been busy. The rest of his term as mayor will be interesting to watch.

ISRAELI AMBASSADOR ADDRESSES U.N.

Editor's note: October 1, 1979 marks the fifth year since the ending of the Yom Kippur war. A war in which Israel fought on two fronts. While it is commendable that the middle east is much more stable at time, the Israelis are still not without problems. In a speech to the U.N. Security Council, Ambassador Yehuda Z. Blum explains Israel's position.

P.L.O. RESPONSIBLE FOR U.N. CASUALTIES

On behalf of the Government and people of Israel, I should like to express at the outset our deep sympathy to the families of the three Fijian members of UNIFIL who lost their lives and the two others who were wounded in the Tyre area on 24 August 1979. Again, the terrorist P.L.O. was responsible for these casualties in the service of international peace and security. The Government of Israel finds it incomprehensible that, in the statement made in the name of the Secretary General on 25 August 1979 with regard to this tragic incident, no mention was made of the identity of those responsible for this crime. The sad fact is, that of UNIFIL's thirty fatalities to date, the great majority have been killed directly or indirectly by P.L.O. terrorists.

LEBANON'S MENDACIOUS APPROACH TO THE PROBLEM

The Security Council has been summoned today for the tenth time since the establishment of UNIFIL in March of last year, ostensibly to discuss the problems of Lebanon. However, the true object of the exercise lies elsewhere. It is to find a scapegoat for Lebanon's fundamental problems and a way to avoid facing up to them directly.

This, sadly, has been Lebanon's approach for the last decade and more. For example, as early as December 1968, Fuad Boutros, the present Foreign Minister of Lebanon, who was then also the Foreign Minister of his country, claimed in this Council that: "Lebanon gives refuge to no commando organizations." This was a barefaced lie, and when the President of Lebanon, Mr. Helou was pressed about it, he later admitted to Lebanese Parliamentarians that the claim was made in this Council "in order to secure Israel's condemnation" (as reported in the Beirut newspaper Al Hayat of 1 July 1969). This mendacious approach and the psychological problems it reflects continues to find expression in Lebanon's recent calls for the reactivation of the Israel Lebanon Mixed Armistice Commission (ILMAC), when it was Lebanon, at the time of the Six Day War in 1967 which, by its declarations and actions, made it clear that it considered that the armistice agreement had come to an end. The essence of the armistice agreement was a commitment to putting an end to all hostilities and acts of aggression.

Had Lebanon been prepared to face its problems honestly and fulfilled its international commitments, Lebanon may not have come to the sorry pass it has reached today. One could go further and suggest that the need for UNIFIL could have been avoided and all the debates we have had in recent months obliterated.

THE REALITY IN LEBANON

Permit me to demonstrate this reality with the map of Lebanon to which I invite your attention. Lebanon is an occupied country. It is occupied by two foreign elements. The first is Syria, marked in red on this map, which has deployed 30,000 troops throughout the bulk of that country, as is clearly evidenced on the map. The second is the terrorist P.L.O., which has some 10,000 to 15,000 armed criminals in Lebanon, and the P.L.O.'s zone of influence is marked in brown on this map. The area in dark green is controlled by Lebanese Christians.

As is clear from the map, Syria dominates Lebanon and controls its government whose writ scarcely runs beyond Beirut, if that. This stark truth is known to the whole world and cannot be hidden any more. In the name of peace, Syria fuelled a civil war which led to the destruction of Beirut, to sixty thousand Lebanese dead and almost a million refugees.

The P.L.O. for its part has since the end of the 1960's taken over a large area in the south of the country, which it maintains as the most concentrated terrorist zone of operations in the world. In this area are concentrated six thousand P.L.O. terrorists, with training camps, vast arms supplies and operational facilities of all kinds.

About two thousand of those terrorists are located south of the river Litani. About one thousand five hundred of them are stationed in the Tyre pocket which reaches within eight miles of Israel's northern border. The rest, about five hundred or so, are entrenched in UNIFIL's area of operation.

In this situation one can well ask what has happened to the unity, territorial integrity and national sovereignty of Lebanon. I shall refrain from describing in detail how this situation was reached, for members of the Council are well aware of its background.

Let me point out that the P.L.O. area of control is dependent on the Syrian area of occupation and in fact is part of the wider Syrian design for, rather than permit P.L.O. attacks on Israel from Syrian territory, Syria prefers them to be launched from Lebanon, and for Lebanon, crippled and battle weary as it already is, to bear the consequences of this aggression.

THE IRRELEVANCY OF UNIFIL

Security Council Resolution 425 (1978) took account of the fundamental problems facing Lebanon and provided UNIFIL with a three-fold mandate, calling for strict respect for the "territorial integrity, sovereignty, and political independence" and I stress "political independence, of Lebanon within its internationally recognized boundaries" (Security Council Resolution 425 (1978)).

UNIFIL was entrusted with an appropriate mandate. It was established not only for the purpose of confirming the withdrawal of the Israel defense forces, which it did in June of last year, but also for "restoring international peace and security and assisting the Government of Lebanon in ensuring the return of its effective authority in the area".

However, UNIFIL's area of operation was confined to the south of Lebanon so that there was no possibility whatsoever of its being able to effectively fulfill its mandate. Anybody glancing at the map in front of you will readily appreciate how marginal and irrelevant UNIFIL was and is to real problems of occupied Lebanon.

THE TERRORIST EXPLOITATION OF LEBANON

In 1970 the terrorist P.L.O. was ruthlessly hounded out of Jordan, many of their operatives came fleeing across the River Jordan to Judea and Samaria, under Israeli control, to save their lives. Syria has steadfastly refused to let the P.L.O. operate from its territory. Rebuffed by other Arab countries, the P.L.O. enjoys complete freedom in Lebanon. Its headquarters are located there. Its bases for launching indiscriminate acts of terror against innocent civilians in Israel are located there. Whenever an atrocity is perpetrated in Israel, responsibility is taken by the P.L.O. in Lebanon.

Israel is thus faced with a tragic dilemma. We can either wait for our own civilians to be murdered, or move in order to prevent terrorist outrages. Israel has in fact no choice at all.

Members of the Council scarcely need to be reminded, that under international law, if a state is unable or unwilling to prevent groups from using its territory to attack another state, the latter is entitled to take all necessary measures in its own defense.

The P.L.O., in their cowardly way, deliberately locate their bases in refugee camps, civilian homes and villages. I do not wish to repeat here the relevant passages of Ambassador Ghorrah's statement to the General Assembly of 14 October 1976. Speaking of Lebanese villagers in the south, let me remind the Council that these are Christian, Shi'ite and Druse farmers who have been the victims of the disaster inflicted on them over the years by the terrorist P.L.O. They have found themselves abandoned and have resolved to take up arms to defend themselves.

As a result, civilians on the Lebanese side inevitably are affected and no country more than Israel feels their pain when their lives are lost, callously sacrificed by the terrorist P.L.O.

THE ARAB USE OF THE P.L.O.

It has always been the case that the P.L.O. was an instrument in the hands of certain Arab governments. However, since the signing of the Camp David accords in September of last year, and more particularly since the signing of the Israel-Egypt peace treaty on 26 March 1979, it has become patently clear that the P.L.O. is operating on behalf of the rejectionist Arab states, the opponents of the peace process in the Arab world and their supporters in the Arab world. In particular, behind it stand Syria and Iraq, which are using the P.L.O. as an extension of the "Eastern Front" in an effort to sabotage the ongoing peace process in the Middle East. Illustrative of this was the appointment earlier this month of a former Syrian Major General as director of the terrorist P.L.O. so-called "military department".

SOVIET SUPPLIES FOR THE P.L.O.?

There have been repeated reports of increased supplies of arms, Soviet and other to the P.L.O. in recent weeks.

As of today, the terrorists have approximately 100 cannons deployed in Lebanon mainly in the region between the Zaharani and Litani Rivers consisting of Soviet-made 130 mm. and 155 mm. howitzers, and now also a sizeable quantity of 105 mm cannon of other manufacture. They also have extensive supplies of Soviet Katyusha rockets, which are mobile and brought up to the border for an attack.

As a result the terrorist P.L.O. constitutes a threat, not only to Israel, particularly its civilians in the north, but also a threat - a considerable threat - to Lebanese villagers in the south and to UNIFIL itself.

At the same time - Israel's policy of self-defense is proving effective. Since the atrocity in Nahariya on 22 April 1979, when four Israeli civilians including two little sisters, aged 2 and 4 lost their lives as the result of a seaborne terrorist raid launched from Lebanon, there has been a significant decrease in the terrorist activities in Israel. Moreover, we have solid information that as many as four murderous attacks were prevented in the last week by the operations of the Israel Defense Forces.

ISRAEL'S POSITION

Israel's position vis-a-vis Lebanon is clear. Israel supports the unity, national sovereignty and territorial integrity of Lebanon within its internationally recognized boundaries.

To detach the question of southern Lebanon from the situation in Lebanon as a whole will not enhance the cause of peace. Peace cannot be restored in Lebanon while a Syrian occupation army trains its gunsights on the civilian population of Beirut and while armed P.L.O. terrorists are allowed free reign on Lebanese soil.

It is also held by leading Lebanese figures. Only yesterday former President of Lebanon Chamoun was reported on a Lebanese radio station as stating that the reason for what has been called the "Israeli attacks" is the armed P.L.O. presence in Lebanon, and the escalation about which there have been official protests in recent days follows from the fact that the P.L.O. have received heavy weaponry and set up new bases in Arkub and other places.

"It does not matter if we go to the United Nations or we request an Arab summit. The question is whether the Government of Lebanon has sufficient courage to deal with the question of security in the south in all its aspects. The Syrian forces which should have deterred the Palestinians are encouraging them and giving them cover to extend the areas under their control."

Likewise, Pierre Jumayyel observed yesterday that every time there has been an increase in hostilities in the south the Lebanese authorities rushed to have international pressure brought to bear on Israel, but have never exerted pressure to prevent the attacks on Israel.

Until the nettle of the fundamental problem plaguing Lebanon is grasped, nothing will be achieved. The P.L.O. must be evicted from Lebanon and the Syrian occupation of that country must be ended. Until these basic requirements are met, the Security Council will achieve little. This, Sir, is a sad conclusion but it is a realistic one which the Council is duty-bound to address squarely.

Free high school completion

By Vivian Lang

It is now possible to earn a high school diploma free of charge at TCC.

Offering high school completion is not a new development at community colleges, but now it is expected that more people will take advantage of it. According to coordinator Dr. Robert Lanthrop: "More than 70,000 Pierce County residents 25 years of age and older have not completed high school and could benefit from the program."

Now former high school students, nineteen years of age or older who wish to go back to school may do so at TCC or any other community college in the state with the aid of two free tuition programs: High School Completion and General Education Development (GED). The first leads to a high school diploma while the second leads to an academic equivalent certificate.

Now recent legislation has declared this education to be free of charge beginning this fall (excluding regular lab fees, books, etc.). TCC offers a variety of teaching methods and different courses at many times during the day and evening hours.

Those who discover too late what an asset a high school diploma can be are making up for lost time at TCC.

Students needed on committees

By Wendy Foster

Student Programs and Activities are a part of the educational process. Their purpose is to provide a setting for learning activities outside the formal classroom.

The Student Programs office invites students to participate in programs planning by joining any of three committees.

The instructional and cultural programs committee are responsible for planning, promoting and participating in events that are of an instructive nature. These programs are designed for special educational or cultural interest groups in the campus and community. Members of this committee will work with TCC instructors and division chairmen.

The recreations programs committee is responsible for planning, promoting, and participating in events that promote outdoor recreation. Members of this committee will work with the chairman of the Division of Health P.E. and Recreation in the development of programs in sailing, hiking, bicycling, softball, volleyball, frisbee, golf, croquet, new games and the like.

The entertainment programs committee is responsible for planning, promoting and participating in programs that are designed for the general pleasure of the audience such as evening coffee houses, "Freshly Brewed" dances and other special events.

All committees are in need of members. If you are interested in participating in student programs planning, or have any questions contact Teri Krasnoff, Priscilla Bell or call 756-5115. Application deadline to join programs committees is October 9, 1979.

T.C.C.'s own "Freshly Brewed" coffeehouse series returns this fall with three more evenings of musical entertainment.

1920's Jazz musicians Boden and Zanetto return to open the first coffeehouse evening on Thursday, October 11. Guitarist Steve Boden plays the roots guitar style made famous by early twenties master Eddie Lang. Boden's song and dance style is enhanced by a vintage tuxedo and interlaced with anecdotes about the life and times of musicians in the roaring twenties. Winley Zanetto's foot stomping piano playing brings to life the vibrant period of music that was Ragtime. His playing will recreate the early favorites of men like Fats Waller, Al Jolson and George Gershwin. Their performance starts at 8 p.m. in building 11A on campus.

Continuing a broadcast series begun in the fall of 1976, Classic KING-FM, 98.1, Seattle, will welcome back the Chicago Symphony Orchestra during the first week of October. All programs in this 1979-80 radio season will air Wednesdays, 9-11 p.m.

Sir Georg Solti is now entering his eleventh year as Music Director and Principal Conductor of the Chicago Symphony. Since 1969, Sir Georg has led the CSO to a position in which they are generally acknowledged to be the "sine qua non" in symphonic music today. Together they enjoy a stature in the musical world probably unmatched since those legendary days of Toscanini and the NBC Orchestra.

The 1979-80 season, will feature, in addition to "Fidelio," Sir Michael Tippett's Fourth Symphony (a CSO commission), a newly-completed version of Mahler's Tenth Symphony, and American composer David del Tredici's "Final Alice," based upon the Lewis Carroll classic, "Alice in Wonderland." Also included are programs recorded during the Chicago Symphony's most recent European tour.

Guest soloists this season include baritone Theo Adam, bass Hans Sotin, and soprano Barbara Hendricks; pianists Andre Watts and Gary Graffman; violinist Kyung Wha Chung; and cellist Lynn Harrell. Guest conductors at Chicago's Symphony Hall this season include James Levine, Andrew Davis, Erich Leinsdorf, and Janos Ferencsik.

For the fourth consecutive year, the complete fall season of San Francisco Opera broadcasts will be carried locally — and, for the most part, live — by Classic KING-FM, 98.1.

Broadcasts will originate in SQ quadrophonic sound through facilities of radio station KKHI in San Francisco. The prominent Bay Area actor Ray Reinhardt will serve as announcer-host. Broadcasts will be heard along the West Coast and as far east as Chicago. All programs in the 1979 series, will begin at 7:50 PDT-PST. The year's final broadcast, Ponchielli's "La Gioconda," which will air on Friday, November 30.

Broadcast performances will originate live from the War Memorial Opera House in San Francisco. They include Verdi's "Don Carlo" (in Italian, October 5), Wagner's "Der Fliegende Hollaender" (in German, October 12), the triple bill of Dallapiccola's "Il Prigioniero" (SFO Premiere, in English), Poulenc's "La Voix Humaine" (SFO Premiere, in French), and Puccini's "Gianni Schicchi" (in Italian, all to be aired October 19; Donizetti's "Roberto Devereux" (in Italian, October 26), a new production of Puccini's "La Fanciulla del West (in Italian, November 2), Verdi's "La Forza del Destino" (in Italian, November 9), Mozart's "Cosi fan tutte" (in Italian, November 16), and Rossini's "Tancredi" (in Italian, November 23).

As in the past, the San Francisco Opera will feature an outstanding company and world-class guest artists during its 1979 season. Among the roster of singers will be Michael Devlin, Maria Ewing, John Macurdy, Danica Mastilovic, Leonie Rysanek, Christa Ludwig, Giacomo Aragall, Wolfgang Brendel, Anna Tomova-Sintow, Marius Rintzler, Simon Estes, Magda Olivero, Giuseppe Taddei, Sheri Greenawald, Montserrat Caballe, Carol Neblett, Placido Domingo, Leontyne Price, Martti Talvela, Pilar Lorengar, Nicola Zaccaria, and Marilyn Horne. The duo of Renata Scotto and Luciano Pavarotti will star in the season's final broadcast, "La Gioconda."

Julius Rudel, Silvio Varviso, Gianfranco Masini, John Pritchard, and Bruno Bartoletti figure among the guest conductors this year. And outgoing General Manager Kurt Herbert Adler will conduct the performance of "La Forza del Destino" November 9.

This is San Francisco Opera's 57th season.

Soccer season looks bright

The Titans scrimmage.

"I think we'll be a much better team than last year," stated TCC soccer coach Bill Logie.

The Titans' soccer team will be welcoming back returning letterman Maged Shakaur for the 1979-80 season. He is expected to be in top form this year after being sidelined most of last season with a bone chip in his right ankle.

Promising new freshmen are David McMullen, midfielder; Berry Johnson, goalie; and Mike Terrell, defender. Coach

Logie thinks these new players will add spark to the Titan side. He stated, "I think we've got a good chance for third place in our division."

Three of the stronger teams the Titans will face this year are the Raiders of Fort Steilacoom Community College, whom TCC faces tomorrow at 1:00 p.m. at the Western State Hospital Field. Bellevue CC, which invades campus on October 10, and the Gators of Green River CC, who provide the competition on the Titans next road trip.

The bottom twenty

Just in time to inject a note of reality into alumni hopes for a winning football season, Penthouse magazine's October issue identifies what sports writer Lawrence Linderman calls "The Penthouse 20 Worst Football Teams of 1979-80."

These teams are not obscure teachers colleges; they are, or have been, potential rivals of the best. But all have fallen on hard times in recent years, and Linderman sees little hope for the football season soon upon us.

The list:

1. Northwestern. Its 0-10-1 record set last year "figures to be even worse in 1979." Says the magazine: "Northwestern's major problems are offense and defense, in both of which they are deficient."

2. Wake Forest. Last season's 1-10 record may turn out to be better than 1979's likely outcome. "Wake Forest may well lose every time out in 1979, including its curtain raiser against unheralded Appalachian State."

3. University of Texas, El Paso. UTEP has won only one game per season since 1975, and they won't do any better this time around. UTEP's gridiron specialty is the equal-opportunity defense, which allows opponents to score five touchdowns a game without regard to race, creed, color or talent."

4. Vanderbilt. Finishing 2-9 last year, "this fall Vanderbilt will again be atrocious and nothing new that head coach George MacIntyre can say or do will help the Commodores escape what seems to be paramount possession of last place in the Southeastern Conference."

5. Idaho. Last year's 2-9 record isn't likely to be much better this year, but Penthouse concedes that the team might be able to give us less than the 36 points per game it yielded in 1978.

6. Texas Christian University. "Defense will again be the Froggies' short suit, but the same can be said of their offense." Look for another 2-9 season this year.

7. Virginia. After 1979's 2-9 record, Linderman says: "I look for the Cavaliers to beat James Madison this year...And that's about it."

8. Columbia. "The doormat of the Ivy League" in 1979 after last year's 3-5-1 season.

Graduations have made the outlook look dimmer.

9. Oregon State. This school had a winning season — in 1970. Last year's record was 3-6-1 and 1979 looks like the ninth consecutive losing season.

10. West Virginia. Another losing season after 1978's 2-9 record, but there is hope: the state legislature has approved a $20 million new stadium, and "high school athletes always have an edifice complex. The Mountaineers will begin getting their share of blue-chip players quite soon and should show marked improvement within the next couple of years."

11. Rice. Rice's record for the last three seasons is 3-29. This year, say the magazine, "the Rice defense will again give up twice as many points as the offense can score, which is why the Owls can be expected to check in with a record that will approximate last season's 2-9 performance."

12. Army. The once-mighty football school hasn't been able to attract top high school players, many of whom don't find four years in the Army after graduation an enticing prospect. The loss of eight starting seniors from the '78 season won't help Army either. (Navy, incidentally, is not on the Worst 20 list.)

13. Illinois. Last year's 1-9-2 record forshadows this year's results. Failure to take to the air with the forward pass was to blame last year, and likely will be again in '79.

14. Boston College. "Hollywood producers could do worse than to study Boston College's 1978 football season for possible adaptation as a movie comedy," Penthouse says. Head coach Ed Chlebek was fired last year — but rehired after his players pleaded that he be given a second chance. After last year's 0-11 record, Boston College "will improve, although not dramatically."

15. Kansas. "They Jayhawks are a decent enough college team, but unfortunately they're playing in a murderously tough conference." Last year's 1-10 record may be a taste of the current season as well.

16. Syracuse. Once the symbol of Eastern football power, the school of Jim Brown, Ernie Davis, Floyd Little and Larry Csonka, the Orangemen have fallen on hard times. This year, "the Orange will be mostly black and blue."

17. San Diego State. Used to winning seasons, this school found introduction to the Western Athletic Conference last year a sobering experience. For '79, "the team has been so depleted by graduations that its chances of finishing near .500 seem very remote."

18. Tulane. The Green Wave's last winning season was in 1973, and the next isn't likely to be this year. "One reason for Tulane's protracted decline is its somewhat steady offense," the magazine says. On the other hand, "the defense won't be able to stop a sneeze."

19. Washington State. Despite the services of the nation's "finest collegiate quarterback," WSU last year had a 3-6-1 record. "Since Washington State was the PAC Ten's easiest team to push around last season, look for their conference foes to really stick it to the Cougars this season."

20. Memphis State. Last year the Tigers were 4-7, their first losing season since coach Richard Williamson took over in 1975, "and this fall will seem like a replay of 1978. It's easy to diagnose what ails the Tigers: their defense has as much muscle as Bianca Jagger."

TCC welcomes new womens coach

By Marv Jenkins

Can a community college upgrade its sports program with part-time coaches and instructors?

If intelligence, experience, and dedication are still the standard requirements for eventual success, then Tacoma Community College has the right person in Chris Quinn.

Although hired on a part-time basis, this multi-talented young lady is currently the women's volleyball, archery, softball, and tennis coach and also teaches slimmastics at Tacoma Community College. To accomplish her varied duties, Chris works an average of eight to twelve hours each day.

A native Tacoman, Chris attended Franklin Pierce High School and graduated from Washington State University in 1973 with a major in physical education and a minor in sociology. While in college, Chris worked for the Pierce County Parks and Recreation Department during summer vacations and helped organize the Sprinker Recreation Center in Spanaway in 1976.

Chris taught physical education and social studies in Adelaide, Australia, from 1974 through 1978 and returned to the United States and the Tacoma area during August 1978. Chris began her employment in the athletic department at Tacoma Community College during September, 1979.

The women's volleyball program was started from scratch at TCC during August, 1979. With nine players on the current roster, Chris stated that there is a continuing need for additional players. All participants must be enrolled in a minimum of ten credit hours and be able to attend practices and participate in games on the road as well as home games.

The volleyball team has played one game of its 20-game schedule which started on Sept. 21 and ends Nov. 21. The schedule includes games in Edmonds, Everett, Seattle, Skagit Valley and other community colleges in the local area. All practice sessions are scheduled for 2:20-4:00 p.m. daily in the gymnasium and game times are 7:00 p.m. in the gym on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Interested personnel should call Chris at 756-5175 or see her at the gym between 9:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

The most popular sport with the ladies is currently the slimmastics course, and rightly so. Designed to help those ladies desiring to improve their physical fitness and "trim away those unwanted bulges", slimmastics includes aerobics, strength exercises, and training. Chris instructs one class on Mondays and Wednesdays from 12:30 - 1:30 p.m.

and a second class Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10:30 - 11:30 a.m. Chris emphasized the fact that classes are composed of all age groups with varied backgrounds and interests. This course offers one credit hour.

Although the season for tennis, archery, and softball does not get under way until early spring next year, those ladies who are interested in these sports should still feel free to discuss the programs with Chris.
