Dear Pearl:

It's been nearly a year now since we dedicated the Pearl A. Wanamaker Library and Instructional Resource Center at the Tacoma Community College. I was in the building for a meeting recently, and I was very happy about the spacious feeling in the stacks, the acoustics in the meeting rooms and the reaction of students and visitors. It's really a wonderful building.

The reminder that it has been nearly a year was the discovery that we were still holding some of the photographs which we had intended to send you. All I can say is, better late than never... and I hope you'll enjoy adding these to your album.

Cordially,

Harold R. Snodgrass
Director of Publications
