WHAT HAPPENED TO SEPTEMBER?

Where did September go? At TCC it was a hectic whirl of registration for the fall quarter, the beginning of fall quarter classes, and a start toward MBO. What is MBO? It stands for "management by objective." Simply stated, it is a technique of focusing efforts on the job to be accomplished. Faculty and staff spent Sept. 17 in a day-long orientation session on MBO, conducted by Marshall Van Ostrom, management consultant. And they devoted Sept. 24 to a workshop on applying MBO to their own jobs.

REGISTRATION: UPS AND DOWNS

Final registration figures aren't complete, but it appears that enrollment in TCC's credit classes is up just slightly over last fall -- 3,171 full-time equivalents compared to 3,151 a year ago. However, the totals will fall below TCC's target for this year, mainly because the 1971 Legislature decided that community service courses are not eligible for state support. This particularly hurts TCC, which has one of the largest community service programs.

DIS N' DATA

More than 50 persons are registered in high school completion courses in TCC's new high school completion program, and another 30 have been registered for dual credit in college courses. The adult education office in Building 7 is open until 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday... George Scott, organist, will present a free public recital at 8 p.m. Oct. 12 in the Little Theater Building. Retired from the Washington State University music faculty, Scott teaches part-time now at TCC.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Three new members of TCC's full-time faculty are Sam L. Heritage, formerly with the Boeing Co., instructor-coordinator for the junior accountant program; Karen Munson, instructor-coordinator for the receptionist/clerk program; and Mrs. Phyllis Templin, physical education. Mrs. Templin was one of TCC's first faculty members; she taught in 1965-66... Dr. Thornton M. Ford, TCC president, will talk with environmental education teachers in Randle as part of the state's in-service education day for teachers Oct. 15. Similarly, Ho Yun-yi, TCC history instructor, will tell social science teachers about "The Nixon China Policy -- Implications for the Social Studies" Oct. 15 in Auburn... Dr. Ronald E. Magden, chairman of TCC's social science division has been selected to take part in a teacher training project in Yugoslavia. He'll spend the spring quarter, 1972, in Zagreb.

Update is a monthly newsletter published to inform the public about developments at TCC.
