Final Election Slated For Friday

$590 Appropriated for Piano; Activities Council Acquires $65

By Renee Bayer

A motion to buy a $590 piano for student use and entertainment, and a $60 dolly for moving the piano, was passed at the GASTCC meeting last Thursday.

It was decided at the meeting that GASTCC must have a two-thirds vote to overrule Activities Council; whereas in the past a majority rule was needed.

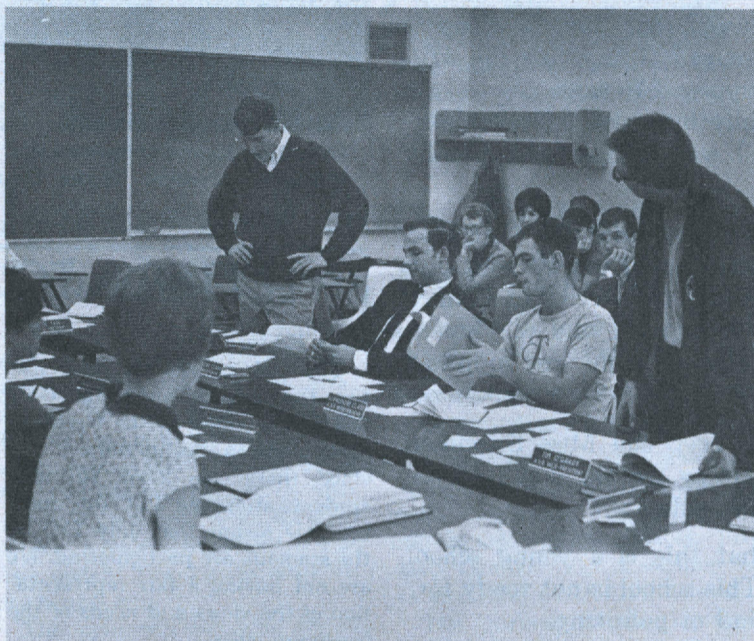

Next on the agenda was a motion to give $65 to Activities Council for plaques, which passed.

Under new business, a proposal was passed for the administration to look into the possibility of turning building 15, or half of it, into a student union building after completion of the other buildings.

GASTCC vice-president Tim O'Grady made a motion to have at least one student government night meeting. According to O'Grady, this will give the night students a chance to see their government in action.

The GASTCC criticized Activities Coordinator Miss Paul Eisenman, and NCCC chairman Greg Ootkin for not informing sophomore Larry Mock that he was unable to run for sophomore representative due to lack of credits before he began his campaign.

A motion to dedicate the Tacoma Union building and a plaque to John P. Steadman, last year's Activities Coordinator, by O'Grady failed to pass.

Vice Pres. Tim O'Grady objects to a motion entertained by Soph. Class Pres. John Conrad.

Poor Turnout For Primary

The final elections for freshman class officers will be the evening of Thursday, Oct. 26 and Friday, Oct. 27.

Those who reached the finals are:

President — Aaron Bobo and Don Dosa.

Vice President — John Green III and Patty Lauterbach.

Secretary-Treasurer — Cheryl Martin and Penny Meyers.

Freshman representatives — Lynn Harlass, Dave Murphy, Diane Northover, Betsy Perdue and Cassandra Stegman.

The election times will be from 6 - 9:30 p.m. Thursday night, and from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday.

Election centers will be in Building 15 and the library foyer during these times where a person can vote when he shows his or her student identification card.

Only 366 students voted at the preliminary elections; 242 freshmen and 144 sophomores. The entire student body numbers 2452, and this vote constitutes only 15 per cent of the students.

The views of each candidate in the upcoming election are on a special page of this issue.

A student identification card is required to vote.

I WON'T, I WON'T, I WON'T:

Vice President Tim O'Grady Refuses GASTCC Ruling

By Marshall Vigus

"I am not going to have my letters read and signed by you Mr. Chairman or our advisor."

This statement was made by Associated Student Body Vice-President, Tim O'Grady at last week's student government meeting.

A motion, introduced by Sophomore Class Vice-President, Kelly Halligan, taking over John Conrad's Chair, regarding the letter signing policy passed by student government last year and reaffirmed at a meeting four weeks ago, would have required all members of student government "including Mr. O'Grady" to have President Phil Tate and Activities Co-ordinator Miss Paula Eisenman read and sign all off campus correspondence.

As it stood before the meeting and as it stands now, all off-campus correspondence must be signed by a club advisor; in the case of the Government of the Associated Students of Tacoma Community College by Miss Eisenman.

O'Grady protested this motion for the fourth time in his two years of GASTCC Service by stating, "When I ran for office I ran on my individuality and I will not surrender my individuality for you or anyone else." "I will not," continued O'Grady,

"submit my correspondence when I am speaking for myself but, only when I am speaking for us (the GASTCC)."

This latest motion originated when it was learned that Vice-President O'Grady had been mailing letters without proper authorization including one letter to the controversial Washington Association of Community College Student Governments.

Vice Pres. Tim O'Grady voices his opinion on a motion during last Thursday's GASTCC meeting.

It seems ASB President Tate received a letter from WACCSG inquiring into the possible presence or absence of GASTCC representatives.

'If we would have waited for Phil, "informed O'Grady, "WACCSG would have never gotten any information."

It was learned by Tate that O'Grady sent a letter informing the WACCSG that Tate would send an official letter informing them of the GASTCC position with WACCSG and that the GASTCC had not budgeted for the upcoming WACCSG conference.

"I made the mistake of telling our advisor," informed O'Grady, that I sent the letter.

In rebuttle to Vice-President O'Grady Miss Eisenman said that is a policy of all state college Activities Coordinators to sign all Student Government Correspondance and to ignore all not signed.

In Conclusion, Mr. O'Grady stated bluntly, to Chairman Tate, "Don't ever speak to me about wasting time about a motion which is already law."

In the GASTCC meeting held four weeks ago, O'Grady introduced a motion to resind the existing ruling The motion failed to pass.

During the discussion of a motion introduced by VP O'Grady to remove Greg Ootkin from the chairmanship of the Nominating Campaign Coordinating Committee O'Grady Stated, "Rules are to be kept."

Ootkin was not removed.

It has been suggested by the Tacoma Community College Bookstore that students stock up on such items as art supplies, blue books, test cards and extra pencils, before the time the bookstore moves into building 6.

Students should watch for a definite moving date as a definite moving time has not yet been decided.

The bookstore will be closed for approximately one week during moving time.

AWS to Sponsor a Carnival at TCC; A "Battle of the Bands" Following

Want a chance to throw a cream pie at an ASB officer? Well, you can at the first annual Tacoma Community College Carnival sponsored by the Associated Women Students of TCC.

The Carnival will be held Saturday, Oct. 28, from 3 to 9 p.m. in the TCC gymnasium. There will be a 15c admission charge, with the proceeds going to the Reman Hall Christmas Party.

Kathy Hill and Katie Smith, co-chairmen for the event said that they need lots of help to make this carnival a success.

"Among the many things to do," said Miss Hill, "are throwing darts at numbers, darts at balloons, a kissing booth, throwing rings at coke bottles, a fortune booth, a fish pond, bingo

EDITORIALS ...

Well, our illustrious and mighty, high, all powerful Student Body Vice-President Tim O'Grady has finally done it.

We are getting fed up with Mr. O'Grady's misuse and abuse of his office.

We are also getting fed up with the way Mr. O'Grady displays his lack of respect toward his fellow officers, the faculty and especially the Activities Co-ordinator, Paul Eisenman and her secretary, Margaret Williams, and toward the student body in general.

We are sick and tired of hearing that there is going to be an activities council meeting instead of receiving the written notice which every club is supposed to have.

We are not going to stand idly by while O'Grady literally packs the Activities Council with people who blindly follow his wishes.

We got the flimsy excuse this time that the GASTCC office was out of supplies so notices could not be sent out. If Mr. O'Grady is so concerned about the Activities Council why didn't he pick up a piece of charcoal and parchment and write out the three days notice all clubs are supposed to receive.

If we hear the Great White Veep call Miss Eisenman "Ike" at one more GASTCC meeting we are going to see that he makes a personal and public apology.

Mr. O'Grady fails to see that this is a young school and that he is pushing too hard. This school is not ready for, and we hope it never sees, his kind of politicing.

We advise Mr. O'Grady to slow down or we are going to do everything possible to see that he is stopped.

A question was posed in the CHALLENGE last year inquiring as to the lack of flags at GASTCC and Activities Council meetings. "Are they (the flags)," asked the CHALLENGE, "waiting to be stamped 'Approved by the Dean of Students'?" After attending two Activities Council meetings and two GASTCC meetings and pledging my allegiance to the blackboard I am beginning to wonder. — Marshall Vigus

EVANS TELLS OF STATE PROBLEMS

By Marshall Vigus

Editor's Note: Following are a few comments made by Washington State Governor Daniel J. Evans at a Young Republican's banquet held here in Tacoma a few weeks ago. The comments range from the role of Community Colleges in industry to last year's battle in Olympia over the separation of Community Colleges from local school boards.

"Education is the prime responsibility of the state," commented Washington State Governor Daniel J. Evans. "And we have failed.

"It has been shown that the time to be concerned with the student is when he falls behind others," he said. "This usually happens in the third grade."

"And no matter whether we spend extra money," he explained, "to help the slower student, or wait and support him for the rest of his life through Public Assistance, the responsibility still falls on the state."

"It is rather obvious," stated the governor, "that spending money for his education is more profitable to the state than spending money for institutions to support him." Especially, he said, when this person can be educated to support himself or to help towards his support when he is being supported by the state.

In the speech emphasizing urban growth and the concern one should take for his neighbor and his community, the governor continued.

"The Community Colleges," said Governor Evans, "will be supplying this rapidly urbanizing area with the technicians we so desperately need."

When asked about the recent separation battle in the capital, the governor stated, "It was a rough fight and there were many against the bill. But, I feel that the right decision was made."

"It is true that there was a great fear when this bill was introduced and it was a legitimate fear," he explained.

"Many people are afraid of change," he continued, "and they have a right to be. There was a great amount of concern for the vocational education system in the state," he said. "People," he continued, "are still apprehensive."

"I do feel, however, that the right decision was made and that with a little time," stated the governor, "the benefit of this move will be seen by everyone."

"It's up to everyone to see that the system works and," he concluded, "I'm confident it will."

Governor Evans is interviewed by the CHALLENGE Editor following a recent Young Republican's banquet.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The lack of student participation this year is appalling. Only 366 people voted in the freshman class election preliminaries, and since there are 2,452 full-time students attending TCC this quarter, this means that only 15% of the students are participating. We are not having a fair representation of the views and needs of the freshman class.

If the student body wants to have no voice in student government, then they shouldn't vote, but to be a responsible member of the student body, GET OUT AND VOTE IN THE FINALS FRIDAY.

JIM HENDERSHOT

Dear Editor:

The situation in our parking lots is appalling. The uncoordinated lack of supervision and common sense is quite evident from both the student body and the college administration on the parking problem. The students have been allowed to park so that they impede regular traffic flow onto and off the campus. By 9 every morning, the parking lot looks like a jigsaw puzzle with cars packed every which way; cars can be found parked on the lawns, access areas to the lot, and sometimes on the lower part of the walkways.

Even though parking tickets are given out to these violators, the inconsistency with which they're distributed, plus the fact that they are not upheld by the administration, makes them worthless. If the administration is waiting for the parking problem to take care of itself, they have a long wait because the students would rather park close to their next class rather than where parking space is available. A good example of this is the newly paved parking area at the north end of the campus which hasn't been used except for a small minority, and is never full or close to being full.

Getting back to the idea of parking tickets, it might be well to say that they are all well and good for the purpose they serve if they're used in the right manner, but on this campus they are not.

Green River Community College has used the parking ticket to solve a large portion of their parking problems by initiating a fine and penalty system. Since the community colleges have come under state jurisdiction, this type of system is possible. The fine and penalty system in use at GRCC is to allow a two-week grace period in which students can familiarize themselves with the parking rules when only warning tickets are given. After the grace period, fines are imposed and increased with each additional citation which, if not paid, will result in rejection of future class registration.

The fine and penalty system may need not be so severe, but the progressive fines would deter a majority of the students from parking in restricted areas. To increase the parking space alone is not enough; there has to be some steadfast parking rules that are enforceable and are enforced to completely solve our parking lot farce.

THE COLLEGIATE CHALLENGE

Sports

October 27, 1967

Sideline Scene

By Walt Snover

It has finally happened: The great Pacific Northwest — namely Seattle — will finally boast a major league baseball franchise! Of course, there's still one little catch — a sports stadium must be built large enough to accommodate such a sport.

The problem of a major league sports coliseum has plagued Northwest promoters for a decade and has caused the loss of possible "big time" professional teams in the past. Even lately, the well-known Charles Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, chose Oakland as the spot to move his baseball club, simply because there were "no accommodations for major league baseball in the Seattle area."

However, on October 18, the owners of the American League teams announced that Seattle had received one of the two new franchises to be established in 1968.

Stadium Plans Started

Many business as well as city officials have attacked the stadium problem headon. Private investors from Kent have even mentioned building a stadium and leasing it at a "reasonable price."

Pierce County officials have also managed to catch the "contagious coliseum fever." Earlier this month county commissioners and a group labeled the Pierce County Domed Stadium Committee (Wow!) headed by National Bank of Washington president Goodwin Chase, announced a resolution detailing plans to contribute $19 million towards the proposed stadium to be built in the Seattle-Tacoma area.

As a result of this action, a $10 million bond issue to join with King County in the construction of a $40 million stadium will be on the November ballots.

Naturally, the local group has set up a few stipulations which must be included in the transaction: 1) the stadium site must be south of the Seattle-Tacoma International Airport; 2) Pierce County must be included in the name of the stadium; 3) Pierce County must have an appropriate voice in the stadium management; 4) Pierce County taxpayers will be assessed proportionately to those of King County.

Hotel Tax Fund

During the last session of the state legislature a bill channeling part of the hotel sales tax to the stadium fund was passed. Chase explained that if the voters approve the $10 million bond issue, the taxpayers will pay another two mills.

The fact that the stadium is looked upon as being self-supporting in five years was also mentioned by Chase and the point was stressed that the two mills will "not" be necessary when this occurs.

The voters of Pierce County will decide the fate of professional major league sports in the Seattle-Tacoma area this November and what shall be the verdict?

The Tacoma area has a chance to join the "big-time" in the sports world. A domed stadium would open up a new and prosperous future for the area and draw individuals to the Northwest.

Let's get the ball rolling and build that stadium close to Tacoma. It's up to you voters!

BY THE WAY — The TCC basketball squad will begin practice Nov. 1. The only problem is that there are no backboards in the gym as of yet. At last word Coach Don Moseid places them "somewhere" on a train in the midwest.

TCC Runners Host Tonite

Titan cross-country runner Terry Rice will be in action tonight as the TCC squad faces Olympia, Bellevue and Green River on the Tacoma campus. The meet is the first ever held on the school's course.

1st Home Meet
Titans Face
3 Challengers

Coach Ed Fisher's Titan cross-country squad will host its first home meet in history tonight at 3 p.m. The Tacoma Community College runners will face Highline, Bellevue and Olympic on the campus course.

Led by freshman running sensation Terry Rice, the TCC team notched its second victory of the season and school's history on October 19 as it crippled the Centralia Wolverines 32-70. In the same meet the Green River Gators knotted 50 points while Lower Columbia tallied 74.

The first place victory for Rice was his second of the young season. Rice, a former track star from Tacoma's Mount Tahoma High School, covered the three mile distance in 15 minutes, 18 seconds.

Also finishing in the first ten were Titan runners John Hayes, who captured fourth place, Pat Hayes, who took fifth, while tenth spot was won by Terry Bogh.

Friday's contest will be the first of two home tilts for the TCC runners. The following week on Nov. 3, the Titans will play host to Green River and Centralia in a league contest.

Tacoma 32, Green River 50, Centralia 70, Lower Columbia 74.

1, Rice (T); 2, Woods (GR); 3, Jones (GR); 4, J. Hayes (T); 5, P. Hayes (T); 6, Saviezal (GR); 7, Kjer (C); 8, Bauman (LC); 9, Simmons (LC); 10, Bogh (T); 11, Penny (C); 12, Miller (T); 13, Lopez (T); 14, Nichols (C); 15, Day (C); 16, Winkle (T); 17, Riggs (LC); 18, Grimmett (LC); 19, Lombardini (GR); 20, Bearson (GR); 21, Gadwa (GR); 22, Johnson (LC); 23, Luhn (C).

Intramural Golf, Tennis
Scheduled for Oct. 30, 31

"There is still time to participate in the intramural golf and tennis tournaments," stated intramural director Jack Heinrich. Tee-off time is 12 noon and 2 p.m. at Spanaway Golf Club on Monday, Oct. 30; Colegate Park, near Curtis High School, is the location of the tennis tournament. The first match, Tuesday, October 31, starts at 3 p.m.

The gym will be open to all students interested in intramural volleyball and badminton from 12 noon to 1 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. "The weight-training room will also be available for use at this time," added Heinrich.

Mr. Heinrich also acknowledged the fact that grass has been planted in the athletic field and should be ready by spring.

ATTENTION ATHLETES!

A meeting for all those interested in turning out for the Tacoma Community College basketball squad will be held on Friday, October 27, according to varsity head coach Don Moseid.

The purpose of the meeting, which will be held at 3:00 p.m. in the school gymnasium, will be to acquaint team hopefuls with the practice schedule as well as eligibility requirements noted Moseid.

The TCC netters will officially begin practice on November 1.

Yank Soccer Team Invades England

July 16, 1967 the Tacoma Wanderers Soccer Team set out for the British Isles and began a trip which was to bring esteem to the city and the United States.

The Wanderers were first organized in 1962 by Frank Hall, a former soccer player from London, England, who has resided in the U. S. for 13 years. At first the kids' team played private schools and teams in the Bellevue (Seattle) League since there was no league in Tacoma at that time.

Interest developed, however, and in 1964 the Tacoma-Pierce County Junior Soccer Association was formed. Now the league boasts 49 teams with over 850 kids participating under the leadership of league president Frank Hall.

The name "Wanderers" came from the Wolverhampton (England) team which was one of Hall's favorites. It was also fitting due to the lengthy travel necessitated for league competition when the team was formed.

Billed by the British newspapers as, "The First American Boys' Soccer Team to Visit England," the smartly dressed squad of 14 boys, with coach Hall aboard, set off for their game action in the Isles.

The visiting "Yanks," as they were labeled by the English boys, were naturally rated as underdogs against the long-time experienced British teams.

Their first encounter against the Stafford School team brought heart to the youngsters. Predicted to lose by a 9-0 score, the hard-

Soph. Class Finds Trouble In Selecting New Rep.

By Mitzi Rochester

The following letter was submitted to The Collegiate Challenge by John Conrad, Sophomore Class President:

"Due to the stipulation given to the NCCC that there will be two candidates running for the office of sophomore representative before there will be an election, there will be no election of a sophomore representative.

The three people nominated at the sophomore class meeting last Friday were Jim Jones, Linda Glenwinkle and Dick Bradley. Miss Glenwinkle declined officially after the meeting, and the lack of credits eliminated Mr. Jones, leaving Mr. Bradley the only candidate. Therefore, Mr. Bradley has been officially appointed to the office of sophomore representative by John Conrad, Sophomore President."

Is this appointment legal? Both the Government of Associated Students of Tacoma Community College and the sophomore class constitutions say the appointment must be within five days. This does not provide for a procedure in case this vacancy is not filled within five days. Possible interpretation is that since five days have gone by there could no longer be an appointment, but there could be an election. Another interpretation could be that it is not possible since five days have gone by to have either. Possibly the class should just amend the constitution to provide for this case.

Was the sophomore class meeting on Sept. 20 at 12 noon completely illegal? The meeting, held in 15-1, 15-7, the old library and 15-1, respectively, was not attended by Frank E. Garratt or J. Allan Clarke, sophomore class advisors.

Two motions introduced at the meeting are the subject of current controversy. Kelly Halligan moved that the credit hour requirement to run for a sophomore class office be changed from 40 to 36. The official vote, 18-10 in favor of not changing the requirement, was announced as defeated. However, since two-thirds majority is required and the fraction was only five-ninths, the motion should legally have passed.

The second motion was passed to nominate and vote on candidates for sophomore class representative. Nominations were made, but no voting was done on the candidate. However, candidates must be checked on as to credit hours and GPA before voting can take place. Some say that not only was this motion out of order, but it was never carried out and that the motion to adjourn was out of order, too, since business had not been completed.

Political science teacher Ronald Libby is a new member to the TCC faculty this quarter.

Libbey Joins TCC Faculty

By Doug Jacques

"I feel there should be more athletic activity and dances at TCC. A good social environment helps to create a successful academic atmosphere," said Ronald Libby a political science major of the University of Washington. Mr. Libby also attended Washington State College and California State College.

"Pullman is a much smaller city than Tacoma, but their campus activities are always hopping," claims Mr. Libby. "I would like to see the colleges in this area unite in some inter-college activities."

Mr. Libby is 25 years old, and has been married for 2 years. While attending Cal. State he was a member of the national championship water polo team.

Mr. Libby is very happy to be a member of the TCC family. He would just like to see a little more for the student to do socially on campus.

F. Garratt Named Literary Advisor

The organizational meeting of the College Literary Association took place as scheduled on Thursday, Oct. 19. The charter members discussed the association's immediate aims and future objectives. From this discussion a statement of purpose was drawn up to be submitted at the upcoming Activities Council meeting. The Association's primary interest is the understanding and appreciation of the creative and esthetic aspects of all literary art forms.

Frank Garratt, TCC English faculty member, has agreed to serve as the club's advisor. This announcement has been greeted by Association members with great joy and expectancy. Another Association position was taken when member Bob Schumacher was appointed Activities Council representative with no opposition.

SOCCER ANYONE?? If you are interested in forming a soccer club, come to Bldg. 15, Room 1 at noon Monday, Oct. 30.

Shapeero, Rhea Donate Article

William L. Shapeero of our biology department recently had an article published in the October issue of Puget Soundings magazine. He was assisted by Richard C. Rhea, a TCC art instructor, who illustrated the article with four of his drawings.

The article, "Inviting the Sea Home," tells how to construct, maintain, and stock salt water aquaria in the home.

Intramurals, P.E. Programs Headed by Jack Heinrick

His favorite sport is football, but his greatest success was in basketball. Who? Jack Heinrick, last year's Titans basketball coach, and this year's chairman of physical education and the intramural program at Tacoma Community College.

He was born and raised in Tacoma where he graduated from Stadium High School in 1944. He joined the Navy and spent 2½ years in the South Pacific during World War II.

Jack Heinrick

After being discharged from the Navy, Heinrick studied at Washington State University, acquiring his masters degree in physical education. In 1947, he returned to Tacoma to study at the University of Puget Sound where he received his bachelor of science and bachelor of education degrees.

While in high school he played football under his father, John Heinrick, now at the University of Puget Sound. When at UPS, he also played football under his father's coaching.

He started teaching at Cle Elum where he coached football, basketball and baseball for two years. He returned to his alma mater, Stadium, in 1952 as an assistant football coach and head coach for basketball and golf. Stadium took the state basketball championship in 1959 under Heinrick's coaching. The Tiger squad is the only Tacoma high school to have ever won the state championship in basketball.

After 15 years at Stadium, Heinrick came to TCC where he coached basketball and cross-country last year, leading the TCC squad to their first hoop victory in history.

Yanks Visit

4-3 in the final minutes of the contest. As Tim Loth, 16-year-old son of Mrs. Pat Loth, secretary at the CHALLENGE, later stated, "Our first game showed the British that we could play their national sport."

Three weeks of sightseeing and touring the English countryside brought a new understanding of the way of life and customs of the British people.

Although the touring record was not extremely impressive (3 losses and 2 ties), they returned to Tacoma on August 4 with a new knowledge of the soccer sport. They had spread goodwill and sportsmanship to another nation.

As Tim summed up the trip, "Even the skeptical English spectators developed a new respect for the 'Yanks' who invaded their shores."

New Buildings Completed

By Dennis Kaperick

The age of the "compact" is over. As the automobiles increase in size, so does our campus. Four new buildings are now ready for the use and abuse of TCC students.

Those who survived the registration lines have already seen the new business office. This building, number 2, houses all business and records personnel. If you are one of the students still waiting in line to register, have no fear, predictions are that you will make it to the business office by winter quarter.

Display Rooms

Across from the business office is the arts and music building, number 4. This is where all of TCC's budding artists and musicians will have their classes. The building contains a band room, choir room, and individual praccome the women's gym, with the addition of the new fieldhouse. The fieldhouse will be used for the Titans' home games as well as for the men's gym classes.

New Theater

Other new buildings that will open as the year progresses are the theater, number 3; the health center, number 5; and the cafeteria, number 11.

In addition to the buildings, another new sight appeared on campus this year. No one knows exactly what it is, but rumor has it that the new structure is "The Titan Belle." It stands between the new cafeteria and the administration building. Once the structure is equipped with a paddle wheel, it will hopefully be used to transport students from class to class during the "rainy seasons."

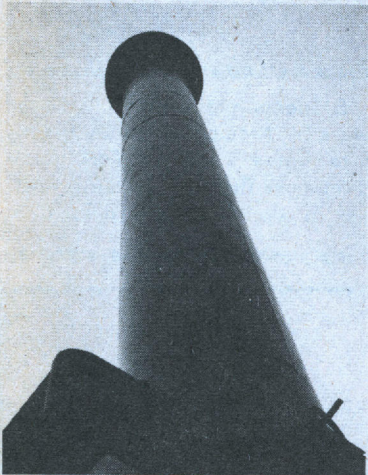

Wanamaker Library

tice rooms for music students; and a studio and display room for the artists.

Another new building is the Wanamaker Library. In addition to numerous volumes of books, the library will contain audio-visual materials, the language lab, two television studios, offices — and even Dr. Magden's history class.

Many of the physical education classes will be taught on campus this year in the new gym, number 22. The gym will eventually be-

"The Titan Belle"

A & L to Present Sigma Alpha Iota

The TCC Artist and Lecture Series will present "Sigma Alpha Iota" doing selections from Alan Hovanhess November 9 in room 4-2 at 12 noon. "Because of the limited amount of space, 125 persons, seating will be on a first come first serve basis," related Mr. Robert Dezell, Music Instructor.

Alan Hovanhess is an American born, contemporary composer. A majority of his compositions are a balance of both eastern and western styles of music. Mr. Hovanhess is currently beginning a year's stay as composer-in-residence with Seattle Symphony Orchestra.

"Sigma Alpha Iota" is an internationally incorporated professional fraternity for women in the field of music. Among its purposes are "to further the development of music in America . . ." and "to raise the stand of productive musical work among students of colleges, conservatories and universities."

Karate Expert Looking for Friends

By Mitzi Rochester

One of Tacoma Community College's more interesting students this year is the holder of a third degree black belt in karate. Sekon Moon, a native of Korea, has spent 12 of his 23 years training in karate, and finds the Korean style highly preferable to that of the Okinawan practiced in the United States. Sekon also said he likes his fencing class at TCC and is interested in track.

In Korea, Sekon was a dental hygienist for two years after high school. During this time, he met Dr. Robert M. Monson from Parkland, Washington, who was an army dentist in Seoul. Dr. Monson arranged for Sekon's studies in the United States and on September 13, 1966, he spent his first night in the U.S. at the San Francisco International Hotel, which he said was a very good first impression, even though his plane was delayed. He finally met his sponsor, Dr. Monson, at Seattle-Tacoma Airport.

In addition to dental laboratory training at Dr. Monson's and Pate's office, Sekon took evening

English classes at Clover Park High School spring quarter. He attended biology and zoology classes as a part-time student at Pacific Lutheran University.

Since Dr. Monson has a one-year visa to practice in Norway, his partner, Dr. Kenneth L. Pate, is sponsoring Sekon this year. He is taking English, history and fencing at TCC. He lives with Robert Keller, of Keller's Dance Studio, who was introduced to him by Dr. Pate's receptionist. Sekon rides Mr. Keller's motorcycle to school but remarked simply, "It's too cold!" and especially with winter approaching would like to arrange for a ride with someone in the Parkland area.

Comparing TCC with Korean schools, Sekon noticed one important difference. After sixth grade, schools are no longer co-educational until the college level. Although he considers the U.S. a friendly place, he finds it somewhat difficult to get to know people at TCC.

Sekon has mixed feelings about remaining in the U.S. after his one-year visa it up. He welcomes the opportunity to study and will probably stay if he can get his visa extended for another year. If so, Dr. Pate would again sponsor him. Yet he misses his family, which includes six older sisters and brothers, and would like to attend a dental school in Seoul, which is number one in Korea. He also misses some of their customs, and is a firm believer that, "A woman's place is in the home." He also hinted, that, along with his curiosity, this view might have been another reason for his taking up karate!

The Tacoma Community College campus consists of 19 separate buildings on a 145-acre site, bounded by South 12th, 19th, Pearl and Mildred streets.

NEW — FIND SCHOLARSHIPS BY COMPUTER

Last year $30 million in college scholarships went unclaimed — because no qualified persons applied . . . because no qualified persons knew of them. • Now ECS engineers and educators have programmed a high-speed computer with 700,000 items of scholastic aid, worth over $500 million, to permit students to easily and quickly locate scholarships for which they qualify. • The student fills out a detailed, confidential questionnaire and returns it to ECS, with a one-time computer-processing fee of $15. In seconds the computer compares his qualifications against requirements of grants set up by foundations, business, civic, fraternal, religious, and government organizations, and prints a personalized report to the student telling him where and when to apply for grants for which he qualifies. Thousands of these do not depend on scholastic standing or financial need.

Frosh Voice Views For Campaign

Candidates interviewed by the CHALLENGE expressed the following views:

DON DOSA: When asked why he ran for freshman class president, Don stated, "I'd like to have the chance to represent my fellow students and to institute some new ideas this year at TCC."

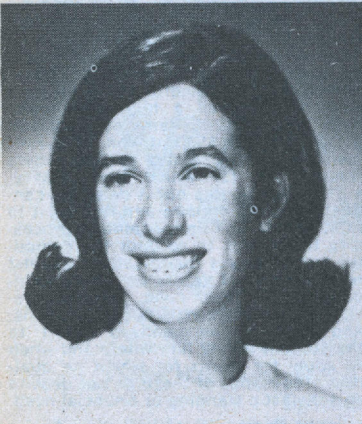

Don stated that some of his goals this year will be "getting a better teacher communication with the students and increase the efficiency of the student government so that all of the activities can be coordinated to the fullest."

AARON BOBO: Aaron is running for president of the freshman class this year because, "I want to give the students a chance to have a choice as to who leads them."

Aaron wants better publication of student functions this year.

"Entertainment around the campus every day, such as a juke box and a readerboard," are the goals of Aaron.

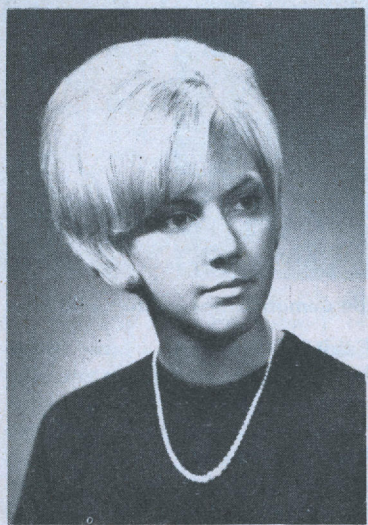

PENNY MEYERS: Penny is running for secretary-treasurer because she wants "to get the students to realize their potential as a unified body."

She also wants to "build up communications among students and faculty and try to unify our campus activities so that our campus life is not non-existent as it is now."

Running for secretary-treasurer:

CHERYL MARTIN: "I want to be actively participating in the student government of TCC. It is my hope to see more students voicing their opinions and having something done about their suggestions."

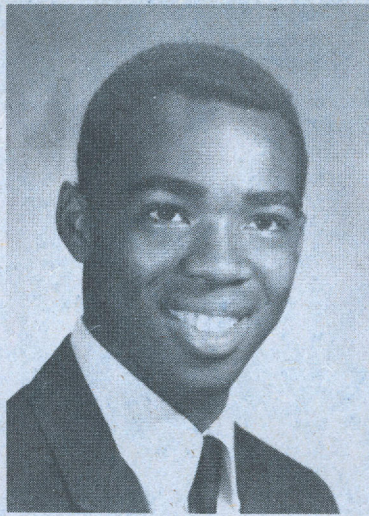

Cheryl is planning on "pushing for bulletin boards in all of the student lounges announcing what is exactly going on around campus."

Running for vice president:

PATTY LAUTERBACH: Patty is running because she wants "to get involved in student government."

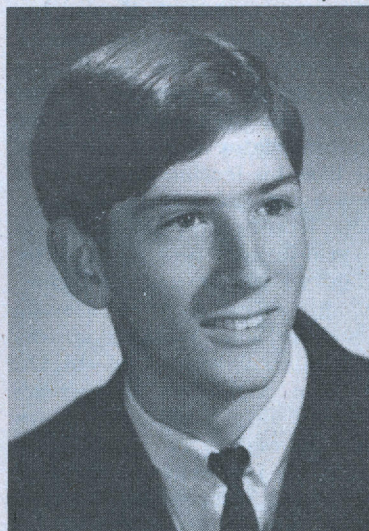

Patty's basic goal this year is "to do whatever needs to be done to help the freshman class, and to get more kids involved in student activities."

JOHN GREEN III: "I always wanted to run for an office and help out students and create a closely knit class."

John wants to "clear up the lack of communications and try to have it cleared up before our graduation."

Running for representative (four will be elected):

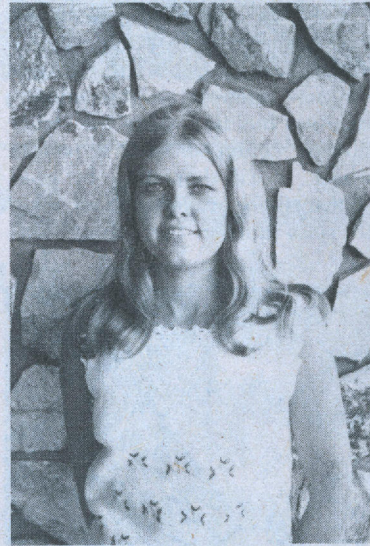

DAVE MURPHY: Dave would "like to have the chance to represent my fellow students, and only through this can we have a fully effective government."

This year Dave would like to "change the voting procedure to a more modern procedure, install a public address system throughout the campus to make communication of announcements easier, and get more campus activities."

DIANE NORTHOVER: Diane stated, "The reason I ran for this office was to get to know the students at TCC and to become familiar with government procedures."

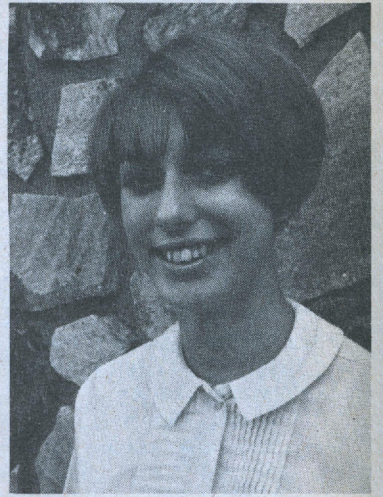

Diane wants "a student union building so that all the students can get together."

Diane has the view that we should "do our best for this year but as we do, look toward the future and plan."

CASSANDRA STEGMAN: "To get into government and to find out what government is like and let the kids know about it," stated Class.

Her plans are "to improve communications among the students, get a suggestion box, and get enough people interested to make student government actively work for the students."

LYNN HORLASS: Lynn "feels she can help the student government."

Her goals this year are to provide communication between students and government and to represent the students' wants and needs in the student government."

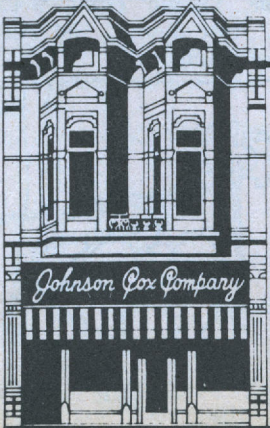

BETSY PERDUE: Betsy "wants to find out what the school is doing and take an active part in school life."

Betsy wants "to communicate with the kids and council." She also has a desire "to get a place where the kids can go and have a general association."

Students may combine course work at Tacoma Community College and Tacoma Vocational-Technical Institute for an Associate in Technical Arts degree.

Parking Fines To Be Issued at TCC

Attention all you students who park in the campus parking lots! After Nov. 1 if you have not filled out a parking permit accurately and completely, you will be fined $5.

And all you students who evidently got your driver's license even though you flunked the parking part of the test are in for a surprise too because those warning slips you've been finding on your cars happen to mean something.

After you have received three warning citations for your unique parking methods, you are placed on Dean Richard Falk's mailing list — and not for Christmas cards either. You will be mailed a letter calling you in for a meeting with the Dean, and if he feels it necessary, disciplinary action which may restrict your registration will be taken.

Students who don't want to receive a fine or meet Dean Falk can avoid both by simply following the parking regulations. These include registering your automobile by filling out a parking permit, parking in designated paved areas, observing the painted white lines, and refraining from parking in reserved areas.

According to Mrs. Bonnie Waggoner, secretary to the Dean of Students, the vast majority of students have been very cooperative in following parking regulations since the completion of the new blacktopped areas.

Ron Wilkins To Speak at Forum

The Forum, a discussion group formed for the purpose of "giving students an opportunity to discuss topics relevant and important to our changing world," meets each Thursday noon in 7-3.

On Nov. 2 the generation gap will be discussed. Ron Wilkins, a TCC student, will give a brief presentation, outlining work that was done in Michigan on this problem. Ron and several other young people worked for the governor, formulating a statement which they felt might help to bridge the gap between generations. Following the presentation will be a question and discussion period. Other topics will be chosen at future meetings.

Forum meetings are open to all students and staff members. Charles Summers, speech instructor, is advisor; Laurel Kooley, representative to the activities council; and David Meyer, moderator.

A non-profit corporation has been set up to receive gifts and bequests intended to benefit students and faculty members at Tacoma Community College. Its title is the Tacoma Community College Foundation, Inc., and its president currently is Robert L. DeLong, of Tacoma.

Vets Appoint New Officers

Officers for the Tacoma Community College Veterans Club were elected at the October 19th meeting.

Mil Harkness was elected president, Forrest Miller was elected vice president, and P. Issenbur was elected secretary-treasurer.

All veterans are urged to attend the next meeting which will be held on Thursday, November 2 at 12 noon in building 7, room 10.

Plans for future activities will be discussed.

Rev. Glenturnel To Speak to Y.D.'s

The Tacoma Community College Young Democrats Club was reinstated as an active campus organization by the student government last Thursday.

Mr. Luther Jansen, advisor of The Young Democrats Club, stated that its purpose is to learn more about political process as it involves party organization.

He further stated that 1968 will show an increased interest in gubernatorial and congressional elections. This means that there will be a strong need for help from students. They will be needed for on-campus speeches during national election time.

The club has as its first speaker The Reverend Glenn Turner on November 1, 1967, 12 noon in Bldg. 15-7. This topic is "The Churches' Place in Politics." Refreshments will follow the program.

He also stated that it is the club's desire to bring speakers directly involved in the gubernatorial campaign to Tacoma Community College.

An on-campus student may join by contacting any of the following:

Lady chairman: Donna Mahoskey; student activities representative: Jim French; alternating: Teresa Fermo; 1st vice: Jim Kangas; 2nd vice: Teresa Fermo; treasurer: Marvell Jones; secretary: Noweta Prout; coordinator: Polly J. Lewis; advisor: Mr. Luther Jansen.

The club secretary, Noweta Prout, announced that the meetings will be held first and third Wednesdays at 12 noon in Bldg. 15-7.

Mr. Jansen stressed that while the Young Democrats Club is a student organization, faculty members are included.

TCC Losses Exceed $1,000 Since 1965

Security and insurance were the main topics when the Tacoma Community College Board of Trustees met Thursday.

The board designated the Pierce County Insurance Association, an organization of independent brokers, as its broker of record.

And board members heard Dr. Thornton M. Ford, TCC president, report that a projector and electronic equipment worth $500 to $800 were stolen during the first day of the current quarter. Losses by theft have totaled only about $1,000 since the college opened in 1965, he said.

"But we have the feeling that we're on borrowed time," the TCC president said.

George Van Mieghem, dean of administrative services, reported that security services for the 19-building campus would cost a minimum of $5,200—up to $26,280 a year for seven-day-a-week, around-the-clock coverage.

Board members scheduled a decision for their Nov. 30 meeting, after Trustee Lewis Hatfield argued strongly for professional security service.

MUN Plans 67-68 Year Works Toward Convention

Model UN discusses their upcoming convention.

By Loman West

The Model United Nations program began its second year at Tacoma Community College following initial success. Last year TCC represented the tiny Central American Country of Costa Rica. This year we have been assigned to the larger and more important Peru by the Model U.N. secretariat. Counties are assigned to a school on the basis of such elements as past performers and capabilities. This is a distinct step upward in the M.U.N. organization and reflects the effort and level of performance evinced by last year's M.U.N. representatives.

TCC is one of the more than one hundred western colleges and universities participating in the Model U.N. Each school represents a country actually seated in the International U.N. Students both in classes and in extra-curricular M.U.N. clubs act as country's representatives in the Model U.N. structure. The Model U.N. is organized as is the International U.N. being composed of a Security Council, General Assembly, and various committees.

During the academic year, M. U.N. representatives gather facts about and form resolutions for the country that they represent. The various schools also meet several times a year in regional seminars to discuss and prepare for the general meeting which is held at a participating school once each year. Last year the general meeting was held by Lewis and Clark College at Portland, Oregon.

Mr. Sheldon Gilman is this year's campus M.U.N. advisor. At present there are some twenty-two students participating with more expected to take part following the matriculatory period.

According to Mr. Gilman, students taking part in the Model United Nations will gain a practical grasp of the aims and functions of the International United Nations, and a better understanding of foreign affairs with regard to both United States foreign policy and the policy of the country represented. In addition the program provides social contact and intellectual exchange with students from all the great western universities and colleges.

This program is of general interest to all members of the student body not only as a campus activity but as a student supported program. M.U.N. is funded by the Associated Student Body.

Tate Wants AC Planning

Phil Tate (standing) tells Activities Council what he thinks AC should do to make campus activities more enjoyable.

By Marshall Vigus

"It is the job of Activities Council to come up with ideas to provide activities for the weekend besides 'cruising the ave.'" So commented Student-Body President, Phil Tate at an Activities Council meeting held last week. "Activities Council," continued Tate, "has a definite purpose and that is to make the activities on campus as successful as possible." "People are looking to AC to come up with ideas," concluded Tate.

A big question that is still plaguing Activities Council is the issue of paid dances. Tate raised the question of profit making ventures by clubs by asking; "should they (the clubs) do this?"

This question and many others should, said Tate, be ironed out by Activities Council.

To make activities as purposeful and as enjoyable as possible, explained the ASB President, "clubs should be thoroughly questioned."

The questions, said Tate should not be a cross examination but constructive criticisms. "This would help the clubs, continued Tate, plan ahead and this thoughhough digging into each activity would make the activity more enjoyable.

Tate continued to emphasize the need of a "Thorough round table discussion."

In conclusion Tate said, "Activities Council is not just a formality but, was designed to relieve budget pressure from the student government and to promote interest in the various campus organizations."

Model UN Plans Dance

The first meeting of the Model United Nations Club was held on Thursday, Oct. 19th at noon in building 19, with Mr. Gilman,

Mr. Jack McGee and Mr. Lewis Dibble, who are representatives from the University of Puget Sound, will be on campus Oct. 31 and Nov. 1 to discuss the advantages of transferring to UPS.

Any students interested in talking to these gentlemen should sign up in the library foyer.

the club advisor, and temporary club chairman, Jim French, explaining the purpose of the club to those present.

Plans were made for the Nov. 10th dance, sponsored by the Model UN club, which will bring The Red Coats to perform in our gym.

Everyone that is interested in the activities of the United Nations and Model UN of the Far West is urged to attend the meetings. The next meeting will be on Tuesday, Oct. 31st at noon in building 19. Be sure to be there.

Winter Registration Begins

Registration for the winter quarter will begin on Nov. 27 and will continue through Nov. 30, according to Mr. Joseph Kosai, records officer.

All students who attended college prior to September 1967 will register on Nov. 27. The order of registration will be changed to the following:

Last Digit of Social Security No.	Time to Register
0, 1	7-9 a.m.
2, 3	9-11 a.m.
4, 5	11 a.m. - 1 p.m.
6, 7	1-3 p.m.
8, 9	3-5 p.m.

All other students will register on Nov. 29 and 30 according to the following schedule:

Social Security No. Last Digit	Time to Register	Date
4	7-9 a.m.	Nov. 29
5	9-11 a.m.	Nov. 29

6	11 a.m. - 1 p.m.	Nov. 28
7	1-3 p.m.	Nov. 29
8	3-5 p.m.	Nov. 29
9	7-9 a.m.	Nov. 30
0	9-11 a.m.	Nov. 30
1	11 a.m. - 1 p.m.	Nov. 30
2	1-3 p.m.	Nov. 30
3	3-5 p.m.	Nov. 30

All students registering for classes after 5 p.m. will use the following schedule:

Date	Time to Register	Students
Nov. 27	6-9 p.m.	Students who were in college prior to September 1967
Nov. 30	6-9 p.m.	All other students

YOUR SELECTIVE SERVICE NUMBER WILL BE REQUIRED AT THE TIME OF REGISTRATION.

Help on Light Show Needed

Some of the people who attended the Howdy Dance were evidently unsatisfied with the lighting system of the gym. Tim O'Grady, vice-president of the student body, spoke for them when he commented, "That lighting was terrible! It was just plain ridiculous!"

Some of these unsatisfied people are attempting to rectify this situation by putting together a resident light show. Several groups and individuals are cooperating in this attempt, but there is still a desperate need for help.

The group needs equipment as well as the help of interested individuals. Anyone who would like to offer time or equipment should leave their name in the CHALLENGE office (building 18, room 2).

Motion to Remove NCCC Head Fails

By RENEE BAYER

A motion introduced by student government vice-president, Tim O'Grady to remove Greg Ootkin, nominating campaign coordinating committee, from the chairmanship was defeated at the last GASTCC meeting October 19.

According to O'Grady, Ootkin stuck too close to election rules concerning the size of signs and number of petition names. He added that Ootkin's committee was not well organized.

After lengthy discussion, it was decided Ootkin only "stuck" to the rules and did the best job he could do with what little knowledge the committee and he had to start with and with little help of GASTCC that was given him.
